and not of other Cloths and Pieces of Cloths called Streits, now made, or to be made; And moreover hath ordained and established, That every man may make, set to sale, and sell all Manner of Cloths called Streits, containing in Length Fourteen Yards, and in the Breadth One Yard, unwatered, or else Twelve Yards watered, without Impeachment of any Officer of the King's; paying to the King the Aulnage, Subsidies, Customs and other Devoirs, that is to say, of every Cloth, and of every Piece of Cloth, after the Rate contained in the said Statutes. And if the Makers of the said Cloths called Streits, make any Cloths to sell of less Length and Breadth than next above is declared, that then it shall be lawful to the Aulneger to cut off the List at the one End of all such Streit Cloths, not containing the said Length, and the same to be sold for a Remnant or a Piece, and not for a Cloth: and that no such Cloths be put to Sale until the Aulneger hath measured them, made his Search, and put to them the King's Seal thereto ordained, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same. And if any Aulneger enseal any such Cloths called Streits, not containing the Length and Breadth of the Streits abovesaid, and cut not off the List of all such Cloths that do not hold the said Length and Breadth of the Streits, that then the said Aulneger shall pay to the King for every Piece of Cloth so found defective, Six Shillings Eight-pence: Except always that all Cloths called Streits, made or to be made until the Day of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist next coming, shall have Licence to be sold and delivered until the Feast of Christmas then next ensuing, of whatsoever Length and Breadth they be.

ITEM, Because divers Persons within this Realm in times past often have been taken and arrested by divers Sheriffs and other Officers of the King, by Writs as well going out of the Chancery of the King, as of his Progenitors, to have Execution of divers Recognisances made before the Mayors of the [Staple,¹] of divers Sums, of which Sums such Persons, to whom the Duty belonged, had no convenient Remedy, other than the said Executions; which Persons so taken and arrested for Execution of the same Recognisances, be oftentimes brought, by divers Writs de Corpus cum causa before the King in his Chancery, out of Prisons in the which they be so kept by Force of such Executions, and there they do sue, shewing forth divers indentures, and other Things in Defeasance of such Recognisances, desiring Writs of Scire facias to warn the Party or Parties at whose Suit they be (²) taken and arrested, to answer thereunto; and thereupon, by Surety found to the King in his Chancery, have been delivered out of Prison, notwithstanding their said Arrest for the Executions of such Recognisances, as above is said, no Surety found to the Recognisees to whom they be so bound, to satisfy them of their Duties, in case that the Matters comprised within the said Writs of Scire facias be not found nor adjudged for the Recognitors [thereby¹] bound; whereby the said Recognisees have been sometime greatly delayed of their Execution, and sometime their Execution utterly lost,

Length and Breadth of Cloths called Streits.

Cloths shall not be put to Sale until measured and sealed by the Aulneger.

Penalty on him for sealing defective Cloths.

X. Whenever Recognitors in Statutes Staple, arrested in Execution, sue out Writs of Corpus cum causa or Scire facias, Surety shall be given severally to the King and to the Recognisee.

ITEM, The King willing to provide for the Ease and Tranquillity of them that come to the Parliaments and Councils of the King by his Commandment, hath ordained and established, That if any Assault or Affray be made to any Lord Spiritual or Temporal, Knight of the Shire, Citizen, or Burgess, come to the Parliament, or to [other'] Council of the King by his Commandment, and there being and attending at the Parliament or Council, that then Proclamation shall be made in the most open Place of the Town, by Three several Days, where the Assault or Affray shall be made, that the Party that made such Affray or Assault yield himself before the King in his Bench within a Quarter of a Year after the Proclamation made, if it be in the Time of the Term, or otherwise at the next Day in the Time of the Term following the said Quarter, and if he do not, that he be attainted of the said Deed, and pay to the Party grieved his Double Damages, to be taxed by the Discretion of the Justices of the same Bench for the time being, or by Inquest, if it be needful, and make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will; and if he come, and be found guilty by Inquest, by Examination, or otherwise, of such Affray or Assault, then he shall pay to the Party so grieved his Double Damages, found by the Inquest, or to be taxed by the Discretion of the said Justices, and make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will, as above is said.

XII.
Exactions
of Wax Chandlers;

ITEM, Our said Lord the King hath conceived by the Complaint of the said Commons, that the Waxchandlers in divers Parts of England, sell Candles, Images and Figures, and other Works of Wax made for Offerings, after the Rate of a Pound of Wax for ij s. and more, where one Pound of Wax is no more worth then vj d. whereby they gain in every Pound of Wax so wrought xvij d. and more, by which Means divers of the People be defrauded of their good Intent and Devotion, supposing such Candles, Images and Figures, and other Works to be of reasonable Value, according as they pay for the same, where they be of none or litle Value: And therefore our Lord the King, willing for such Deceits to provide Remedy convenient, hath ordained and established, That no Person shall sell nor put to sale any such Candles, Images, Figures,

And that the Justices of Peace in every County where they be Justices, shall have Power to enquire hear and determine all Things done against this Statute; and that as well every Justice of Peace in the County where he is Justice, as Mayors and Bailiffs within the Cities and Boroughs, Stewards of Lords within the Franchises of their Lords, shall have Power and Authority to examine and search as well by Weight of such Candles, Images, Figures, and other Works of Wax, as in other Manner by their Discretion, all them that any thing shall hereafter do against this Statute, and to punish them that by such Examination or Search shall be found guilty in the Form abovesaid. Provided that this Statute do not extend to [Hearers'] to be made for Nobles that do die.

ITEM, Our [said] Sovereign Lord the King, for the Wealth of him and his Realm, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords, and at the special Request of his said Commons, hath ordained, That the good Ordinance and Statute made the Eighth Year of his Reign, that is to say, "that the Wools and Woolfels and Tin, repairing and coming to the Staple of Calais, shall be sold for ready Money to be paid in hand, and that the Bullion be brought [in'] his Mint there, that is to say, of every Sarpler of Wool sold for Twelve Marks and above, vi Pound of Bullion, and of every Sarpler of Wool sold under Twelve Marks, v Pound of Bullion, and that lawful and due Partition be made, according to the Ordinance there," at this time [to'] endure from the Feast of the Annunciation of our Lady next to come, till the End of Three Years [then] next ensuing: Saving always to our Sovereign Lord the King Power and Authority to modify the same Statute when him please, by the Advice of his Council, as it shall seem best to him for the Profit of him and of his Realm.

ITEM, Whereas the Customs and Subsidies granted to our Sovereign Lord the King be alloigned and withdrawn, as well for lack of good Search in the Ports and Creeks within the Realm of England, as by other crafty Imaginations of divers Persons, carrying Merchandise of the Staple of Calais against the Form of the said Statutes thereof provided and ordained; Our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Authority abovesaid, hath ordained and stablished, That none upon Pain of Felony bring, carry, or ship, nor cause to be brought, carried, nor shipped, any such Merchandise of the Staple in any Creeks within his Realm of England, against the Ordinance abovesaid. ITEM, For that our Lord the King, by a Petition to him delivered in the same Parliament, by the Commons of the same, for the Merchants of the Realm, hath perceived, That [seeing<sup>1</sup>] the Customers and Controulers in the King's Ports do not write any Warrants in Discharge of the said Merchants of their Merchandises by them shewed and duly customed, some as well coming into the Realm as passing out of the same, the same Customers and Controulers do embezzle the King's Customs, and the (<sup>2</sup>) Merchants be greatly hindred, because that the Warrants might plainly shew and declare their due Custom, when they be (<sup>3</sup>) unduly impeached in the King's Exchequer: The same our Lord the King, considering the said Deceits, by the Advice Assent and Authority abovesaid, hath ordained, That the said Customers and Controulers shall write and deliver sufficient Warrants, sealed with the Seal of their Office to that ordained, to the said Merchants, and to every of them, for all and every of their Merchandises every Time by them to the Customers and Controulers duly (<sup>4</sup>) shewed; and that the said Merchants, nor any of them, shall any thing pay for the said Warrants, but only their due Custom. And in case that any Customer or Controuler, in any of the said [Ports,<sup>5</sup>] do the contrary, that then every Merchant so grieved may have an Action, by virtue of this Ordinance, to pursue against every Customer or Controuler that doth the contrary, in every Court of Record; and then every Customer or Controuler so attainted shall forfeit to the King for every Default Ten Pounds, and to the Merchant thereby grieved, that will sue, a Hundred Shillings.

ITEM, Forasmuch as our most redoubted Sovereign Lord the King is greatly deceived of his Customs and Subsidies, [of that<sup>6</sup>] the Customers of the said Ports within the Realm do seal blank Scrowls in Parchment, called Blank Cockets, with their Seals deputed to their Offices, and them so sealed do deliver to the Merchants, for to enter and write in them their Goods and Merchandises going out of the Realm to the Parts beyond the Sea, the King not answered nor payed of his Customs and Subsidies of such Goods and Merchandises; It is ordained, by the Advice and Authority aforesaid, That if any Customer seal any such blank Scrowl with the Seal assigned to his Office, or if any Merchant enter or write, or cause to be entered or written in such blank Scrowl or Charter so sealed, his Goods or Merchandises, thereby to defraud our Sovereign Lord the King of his Customs and Subsidies, then as well the same Customer as the Merchant shall be judged to forfeit all his Goods and Chattels, as they should forfeit in case of Felony; and that they and every of them shall have the Imprisonment of Three Years. And this Act shall endure by Three Years next ensuing the Feast of St. Hilary next coming.

OUR Lord the King Henry the Sixth after the Conquest, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, the Tenth Day of October, the Fourteenth Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the Commons of the Realm, being in the same Parliament, hath caused to be made divers Statutes and Ordinances, to the Honour of God, and for the Wealth of him and his Realm, in the Form following.

FIRST, Our Lord the King hath ordained, by the Authority of the said Parliament, That the Justices before whom Inquisitions, Inquests, and Juries, from henceforth shall be taken by the King's Writ [called ''] Nisi Prius, according to the Form of the Statute thereof made, shall have Power [of all the Cases'] of Felony and of Treason, to give their Judgements, as well where a Man is acquit of Felony or of Treason as where he is thereof attainted, at the Day and Place where the said Inquisitions, Inquests, and Juries be so taken, and then [from thenceforth'] to award Execution to be made by Force of the same Judgements.

ITEM, Forasmuch as the great [Number,] Quantity, and Substance of the Wools [growing ''] in the Realm of England, by these Three Years past [by Ship,'] and in great Jeopardy and Doubt come to the Town of Calais, there to be sold for ready Money, whereof it behoveth the said Merchants Sellers to receive upon every Sarpler a certain of Bullion, to be brought to the King's Mint at Calais, the which ready Money and Bullion, after that they be forged and coined, and received by the said Merchants Sellers, ought duly and equally to be distributed and departed to every one after his Portion, to be sent into this Realm, for the Increase and universal Weal of the same, by virtue of certain Statutes made in the Parliament holden at Westminster the Eighth Year of our (') Sovereign Lord the King, and renewed in the Parliament holden the Eleventh Year of his Reign, which Statutes be straitly observed and kept; (') as by such Persons, which by undue Means do ship Wools in the Creeks and other suspicious Places, and also in divers Ports of the Realm, and them carry to other Places than to Calais, and also (') by such Persons, which in Derogation of the universal Weal of the Realm, and in Destruction of the good Ordinance of Partition, and in recited.

The Justices of Assise and of Gaol Delivery for Cumberland shall hold their Sessions at Carlisle.

Abatement of the Price of Wools, do purchase Licences for their singular avail to ship Wools to Calais, there to be sold before all other Wools there being, and be not bound to keep the Price, nor to receive no Bullion, nor to make Partition nor Distribution of their Money, in Manner as all Merchants of England there repairing be straitly bound [to keep, do by Statute aforesaid, by reason whereof<sup>1</sup>] the said Merchants by the Means and Licences aforesaid be in Point to be destroyed, the said Staple to be dissevered and destroyed, and consequently the said Town of Calais, which by the said Staple hath hitherto been greatly maintained and enforced, is like to be undone and lost, and the said Realm [in Point to be<sup>2</sup>] greatly hindered and hurt, as the same our Sovereign Lord the King hath conceived by the grievous Complaint to him made in [the<sup>3</sup>] same Parliament by the Commons of the same: Therefore the same our Sovereign Lord the King, willing for the same in this Case to provide a Remedy, by the Advice of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Supplication of the said Commons, hath ordained in the same Parliament, that no such Licence, which is so prejudicial and contrary to the common and universal Weal of his Realm, and of his said Merchants, and in Destruction of the said Town, and (4) the said Ordinance of Partition, and of the Price of the Wools, shall in no wise be granted; And that every Man which shippeth, or doeth to be shipped any Wools or Woolfela, to carry them over the Sea in any wise, shall repair with the same to Calais, and there discharge and sell the said Wools and Woolfela, after the Tenour of the said Statutes, and after the good Rule and Ordinances of the said Staple, in Maintenance and Sustentation of the same, Relief and Increase of the said Town of Calais, and for the public Weal of this his Realm of England. Saving always to [our Sovereign Lord] the King, Power and Authority to modify the same Statute when it shall please him, by Advice of his Council, according as to him best shall seem for the Profit of him and of his Realm of England. Saving also to the Merchants of Genoa, Venice, Tuscany, Lombardy, Florence, and Catalonia, and [also<sup>5</sup>] the Burgesses of Berwick-upon-Tweed, the Liberties to them granted [by a Statute<sup>6</sup>] heretofore; and to all other the King's liege People the Benefit of [Licence<sup>7</sup>] to them granted by the King by the Advice of his Council.

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute made in the Time of King Richard the Second, It was ordained, That the Justices assigned and to be assigned to take Assises and deliver Gaols, [shall<sup>8</sup>] hold their Sessions in the principal and chief Towns of every County, that is to say, where the Shire Courts of the Counties [heretofore were, and hereafter shall<sup>9</sup>] be holden; Our Lord the King, willing the same Statute to be observed and kept in the County of Cumberland, considering that the City of Carlisle is the principal and chief City and Town of the said County, and in the which the Shire Court of the same County hath been holden before this Time, hath granted and ordained, by the Authority of the same Parliament, That the Session of the Justices to take Assises, and to deliver Gaols in the (10) County of Cumberland, be holden, in Time of Peace and of Truce, in the said City of Carlisle, and in none other Place within the same County; as it hath been used and accustomed of old Time.

ITEM, Whereas It was ordained [by a Statute,'] that the Justices of Peace of all the Counties of England for the Time being, shall sit and hold their Sessions Four Times by the Year, to inquire and execute all Charges contained in their Commission, which they be sworn to do according to the Form of the said Statute, upon a great Pain, as by the same Statute more fully appeareth: Our Lord the King, considering that all [the'] High Courts be set and holden in the County of Middlesex continually during all the Four [Times of the Term, by which Time of Term'] the Commons inhabiting in and of the same County, must attend from Time to Time to inquire of all the Articles to the said Courts belonging, as Reason and Law requireth; and that presently after every of the said Terms ended, the said Justices (') of the said County do sit and hold their Sessions in the same County, as they ought to do by force of the said Statute, more to avoid the said Penalty, than for any other [necessary Thing'] there to be inquired, at which Sessions they cause to come before them a great Part of the Inhabitants and Commons of the said County of Middlesex, to inquire of all Manner of Things as to them is given in Charge; and by that means they be charged and vexed throughout all the Year, as well out of [the Time of Term,'] as in [Time of Term,'] so that they have no Rest, nor Time to do their Husbandry and their Labour, to get their Living in any wise, to their utter undoing if they be not relieved in this Behalf: Therefore the same our Lord the King willing in this Case to provide for them a Remedy, hath ordained, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Request of the said Commons of the Realm, That the Justices of Peace which now be, and all other hereafter for the Time being, in the said County of Middlesex, shall be clearly discharged of the said Penalty, by Authority of the same Parliament, [from henceforth,'] the Court of the King's Bench being [set in'] the said County of Middlesex. Provided always, that the said Justices of Peace of the said County of Middlesex for the Time being keep observe and execute the Court of the Sessions of the Peace, Two Times in the Year at the least, and more often if need be for any Riot or forcible Entry made within the same County of Middlesex, and that upon the Pain and Forfeiture of such Sums as be for that ordained by any Law made before this Time: to the End and Intent that the said Commons and Inhabitants of the said County of Middlesex be not enforced nor compelled to appear before the Justices of Peace of the same County for the time being, but at such [Time'] which shall seem by the Discretions of the same Justices of Peace necessary and needful.

ITEM, It was shewed to our Lord the King by the Commons of the same Parliament, that as well because of undue Search made in the Ports and Creeks within the Realm upon divers Persons, which by subtil Imaginations and Means [do"] ship Wool and Woolfels, and several other Merchandises which ought to repair to the Staple of Calais, and them (") carry and convey to divers other Parts beyond the Sea, without paying Custom, against the Tenor of the [Statute"] thereof made and ordained, by the which Means the Customs and Subsidies granted to the King [be<sup>1</sup>] greatly impaired and decayed; It was ordained by the King and [all<sup>2</sup>] the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in [this present<sup>3</sup>] Parliament holden at Westminster, the Eleventh Year of our Lord the King that now is, that none upon Pain of Felony, should carry nor ship any such Merchandises of the Staple in any Creeks within the said Realm against the Ordinance aforesaid: Nevertheless, divers Persons having no Fear of the said Statute, customably ship as well in the Ports as in the Creeks aforesaid, by undue Means, great Value of Wools, Woolfels, and of other Merchandises of the Staple, and them carry into Flanders, Holland, Zealand, Brabant, and Normandy, without paying any Custom for the same; and moreover, divers Persons do ship customably Wools and Woolfels, in divers [Parts<sup>4</sup>] of the Realm [of England,] which be cocketed and customed to go to Calais, and come not there, but the same Wools and Woolfels carry into other Parts aforesaid, contrary to the Statute thereof ordained; by the which untrue Means the King is greatly endamaged and defrauded of his Customs and Subsidies, and the said Staple within short Time in point to be clearly destroyed, the Town of Calais impoverished and decayed, and the Realm [not<sup>5</sup>] increased: Our Lord the King considering the Premises, hath ordained by the [Statute<sup>6</sup>] aforesaid, That all the Wools and Woolfels, and all other Merchandises which by Statute ought to repair to the said Staple, found in any Creeks, shipped contrary to the said Statute and Ordinance, shall be forfeit [to our Lord the King]; And moreover, that every Person whatsoever he be, which at any Time shall ship or cause to be shipped any manner of Wools, Woolfels, [and other<sup>7</sup>] Merchandises to go to the Staple aforesaid, and come not there, shall forfeit as much Goods as the Wools, Woolfels, and other Merchandises by them so shipped and carried to other Places than to Calais do amount, by Extent after the very Value; except the Merchandises which be to be<sup>8</sup> excepted to pass by the King's Licence to other Places; reserved always to the King the whole Moiety of such Forfeitures, which be cocketed and customed to go to Calais, and come not there, as afore is said; and to them which find and seise the Merchandises, the other Moiety, without any Diminution or Abatement. And if any Person [take<sup>9</sup>] any Wools, Woolfels, or any other Merchandise of the Staple, in any suspicious Place adjoining to the Water Side, in whatsoever Place that it be, and no Indenture thereof made betwixt him and the Mayor, Bailiffs, or Constable of the Town in the which such Wools, Woolfels, and other Merchandises of the Staple be so layed, that then the same Wools, Woolfels, and Merchandises be forfeit; and that the King have one Moiety of all such Forfeitures, and the Lord of the Town where such Merchandises be so layed, and he which them (<sup>10</sup>) find and seise, the other Moiety, to be equally divided betwixt them. And (<sup>11</sup>) every Man shall have Power by Authority aforesaid to make Search in every Place [for<sup>12</sup>] such Goods of the Staple so carried or shipped, or laid to be shipped as afore is said, without Impediment or Disturbance of any Person.

ITEM, Our Lord the King [is] informed by the said Commons, how in the Statute made the Sixth Year of King Richard the Second, late King of England, It was ordained and accorded, that every Foreign and Alien, being of the Amity of [our Lord] the King, and of the Realin, (¹) coming within the City of London, and other Cities Boroughs and Towns within the said Realm [of England,] as well within Franchises as without, with Fish and other Victuals whatsoever, there abiding, and returning, should be from thenceforth under the safeguard and special Protection of [our Lord] the King, and that it should be lawful to them, and to every of them, that they might cut Fish and Victuals aforesaid by Pieces, and [to tail and retail them in Part, and in Whole, or in Gross,] as they shall think best, to sell and make their Profit, without Impeachment or Contradiction of any, notwithstanding any Statutes, Charters, Ordinances, Privileges, or Customs made or had to the contrary; and thereupon, by [a] Statute made the First Year of King Henry the Fourth, It was ordained and stablished, That the said Statute and Ordinance, made the said Sixth Year, should be firmly holden and kept, and duly executed, after the Form and Effect of the same, notwithstanding any Letters Patents of late granted (²) to the Fishmongers of [the City of] London; as in the said Statute, made the First Year, fully appeareth; [by] the Supplication of the Commons aforesaid hath made ordained and stablished by Authority aforesaid, That the said Statutes shall be firmly holden and kept, any other Statutes or Ordinances made to the contrary notwithstanding: joined to the same, That if any Man disturb any Foreign or Alien to sell their Fish in Gross or at Retail, in Part or in whole, contrary to the said Ordinances, and thereof be duly attained at the Suit of the King or of the Party, that then he shall forfeit [x li.] and he that will sue for our Lord the King, or for himself, shall have the one Half, and the King the other Half; and such Suit shall be taken for any Offence committed in the City of London against the said Ordinance, for him which will sue for our Lord the King or for himself, in what County that pleaseth him, of the Counties of Middlesex, Hertford, Essex, Kent, Surrey, or in the City of London.

ITEM, Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering by the grievous Complaint to him made by the said Commons, how that the Aliens of the King's Amity do freight and charge the Ships and other Vessels of the Enemies of our (³) Sovereign Lord [the King of Spain] which Thing doth support and greatly enforce the [Money] of the said Enemies, and also it is the stronger Mean that enforceth them of Rochel, and divers other of the King's Adversaries; and if it happen that any Ships or Vessels of the said Enemies, with any Merchandises so charged, be taken by the King's liege People upon the Sea, the said Aliens of the Amity aforesaid, by colour of false Charters, [Doubles, Letters of Marque counterfeited,] and false Witnesses of their Nation, claim and demand the Goods and Merchandises of the said Enemies, so taken upon the Sea, as their proper Goods, and (⁴) the same Goods and Merchandises be restored, to the great Hindrance of them which [they] have taken, and Abashment of the Courage of the said liege People: And [Forasmuch as our Sovereign Lord the King willing therefore] to provide a Remedy, hath granted and ordained by Authority aforesaid, [inasmuch that it is not contrary to the League made betwixt him and some of his Allies,] (⁵)

OUR Sovereign Lord the King, Henry the Sixth after the Conquest, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the One and twentieth Day of January, the Fifteenth Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons of the Realm in the same Parliament being, hath made ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances, to the Honour of God and the Weal and Profit of him and of his said Realm, in the Form following.

FIRST, Because that the Steward and Marshal of the King's [House'] and their Deputies before this Time have holden before them Pleas of Debt, Detinue, and other Pleas personal, moved betwixt People which were not of the same [House,'] making mention in their Records, that the Plaintiffs and Defendants of the same Pleas were of the said [House,'] and do not allow to the Parties Defendants in the same Pleas their Challenges and Exceptions by them alledged, that they themselves, or the Plaintiffs in the same Suits, be not of the same [Houses,'] against the Laws and Statutes before this Time (') had and made; whereby divers of the King's liege People, in his Court holden before the said Steward and Marshal, oftentimes against the Law be grievously vexed and troubled to their great Damage and Hindrance: Our said Lord the King, considering the Premises, hath ordained by Authority of the same Parliament, That in every Suit from henceforth against the [said] Defendants to be taken, they shall not be estopped by such Record, to say that themselves, or the Plaintiffs in the same Record specified, were not at the Time of the said Plea or Suit [thereof] commenced, of the King's [House,'] as by the same Record is supposed; but the (') Defendants shall have their Averment to say, that they themselves, or the said Plaintiffs, were not of the same [House'] at the Time of such Plea or Suit commenced, the said Record or [other'] Matter within the same contained notwithstanding.

I.
In any Suit before the Marshal of the King's Household, Defendant may plead that either Party is not of the Household.

ITEM, Forasmuch as by the Law [it was] ordained, [that] no Man might carry nor bring Corn out of the Realm of England without the King's Licence, for cause whereof Farmers and other Men which use Manurement of their Land, may not sell their Corn but of a [bare'] Price, to the great Damage of all the Realm: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, willing in this Case to provide Remedy, hath ordained by Authority aforesaid,

II.
Exportation of Corn allowed, viz. Wheat when at 6s. 8d., Barley at 3s. per Quarter.

* There are Six Transcripts of this Year, some of them in great Part destroyed or illegible; the Various Readings are noted Transcr. 2, &c. See Note to 9 Hen. VI.

That it shall be lawful to every Person to [carry and bring Corn out of England, and the same to sell to whatsoever Person that he will, except all'] only to the King's Enemies, as often and as long as a Quarter of Wheat (') or Barley is so shipped; and that without suing any Licence for the same: All other [Statutes'] before this Time thereof made to the contrary notwithstanding. Provided always, That the King be contented of his Customs and [Money']. And this Ordinance shall endure till the next Parliament.

III.
Abuse of Safe-conducts under Clause of Vidimus.

Such Clause
shall not be inserted in a Safe-conduct, unless upon special Cause.

Safe-conducts shall express the Names of the Grantees, &c.

IV.
Writs of Subpoena
shall not be granted without Surety, &c.

ITEM, Whereas our said Lord the King of late hath granted his Letters of Safe Conduct to certain Persons to come and go [in'] and out of the Realms and [Seignories'] of England, France, and Ireland, with certain Number of Ships [charged'] with their Merchandises; and that Faith and Credit should as well be given to the Copy called Vidimus, sealed under the Seals authentique and approved, as to the Original of the said Letters; one John de Gautier, one of the Persons aforesaid, granted and delivered the Vidimus of the said Safe Conduct to such and to as many as him pleased, sealed with the Seal of him that calleth himself King of France; under the Colour of which Vidimus a great Navy of the adverse Part was assembled, and did take many Ships, and the King's liege People, and [Victual to'] the Towns and Fortresses of the Adversaries, to the great Damage of the King and of [the'] liege People aforesaid; as our said Lord the King, at the grievous Complaint to him made by the said Commons in the said Parliament, hath perceived: The same our Lord [the King,] considering the great Inconveniencies which might ensue by such and other which do evil use his Letters of Safe Conduct, and that under Colour of such Vidimus a whole Navy of Enemies may be coloured, and daily victual stuff and refresh their Party, in great Damage of his (") Realm of England, doth will, [and hath commanded by the Authority aforesaid,] to the Keepers of his Great and Privy [Seal,] that they shall not suffer such Clause (") Vidimus to be put in any safe Conduct from henceforth to be granted; unless it so be, that some great or some notable Cause or Matter move the same our Lord the King to grant the same in such wise: And willeth also, (") That in all safe Conducts to be granted from henceforth to any Person or Persons, the [Name'] of them of the Ships and of the Masters, and the Number of the Mariners, with the Portage of the Ships, shall be expressed.

ITEM, For that divers Persons have [before this Time] been greatly vexed and grieved by Writs of Subpoena, purchased for Matters determinable by the Common Law of this Land, to the great Damage of such Persons so vexed, (") in Subversion and

Our (') Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, hath declared and ordained by Authority of this present Parliament, That the said Ordinance, in the Manner and Form made the said Ninth Year, (') by the Death of the said late King Henry the Fifth, as some think, expired and not otherwise repealed, shall be and remain an effectual, and available Statute and Ordinance in Law to endure till the next Parliament, and so forth for ever; if so be that betwixt this and the same next Parliament, no such Inconvenience happen in this Behalf, for the which it shall seem to the King, and the Lords of the Parliament at [this'] Time, that it shall not be expedient this Ordinance to endure longer after the same next Parliament.

ITEM, Forasmuch as great Perjuries daily abound within the Realm of England, more than were wont to be in Times past, by occasion of favourable Arrays and Panels made by the Sheriffs [and Under-sheriffs,'] which have Power to make or array such Arrays or Panels, for [Money, and great'] Rewards that they take for the same; whereby divers of the King's liege People be disbarred and [hindered,'] and other put to great Loss of their Goods and Chattels, and some to great Peril of their Lives, against Right, good Faith, and Conscience: The King considering the Premises, and willing to avoid such Perjuries, hath ordained and granted by Authority aforesaid, That if any Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or other, which [have'] Power to make and array such Arrays and Panels, take, by him or by any other to his Use, any Hire, Gift, or Reward to make or array such Arrays or Panels, that he which feeleth himself grieved in this Behalf, shall have his Suit by Writ or by Bill against the Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or other, which maketh such Arrays or Panels, before the Justices where the said Arrays and Panels shall be returned, to recover Ten Times as much as they shall receive for making such Arrays or Panels. And the said Justices shall have Power by Authority aforesaid, to hear and determine such Suits, as well by Examination of the Defendants in these Suits, as by Trial of Inquests thereof to be taken, and to give Judgment for the said Plaintiffs, against the said Defendants, and every of them which so shall be found guilty, and upon that to award Execution; and in every such Suit by Writ, such Process shall be awarded as should be awarded in a Writ of Trespass done against the King's Peace. Provided, That every Suit which shall be taken against the Sheriffs, Under-sheriffs, or other, which shall make or array such Arrays or Panels, be taken in the same Counties where they shall be Sheriffs, Under-sheriffs, or Officers, at the Time of such Panels or Arrays to be made or arrayed: And that this Ordinance shall begin to hold Place at the Feast of Easter next coming, and shall endure till the next Parliament; and if at the next Parliament it shall seem to the King, and to the Lords which then shall be in the same Parliament, [that this Ordinance is good'] for the Weal of the King and of his Realm, then this Ordinance shall endure for ever; saving always to every Person his Liberty and Franchise.

ITEM, The King, considering how divers Persons, by divers subtle Imaginations of Deceit, carry and bear away Wools and Woolfels out of this Realm, to other Places than to the Staple of Calais, in deceiving the King of his Customs and Subsidies, and [to the'] Destruction of the said Staple of Calais, hath ordained by the Authority

The recited Statute made perpetual; unless repealed in the next Parliament.

XIV. Sheriffs, &c. taking Bribes for making Arrays and Panels of Juries, shall forfeit Ten Times the Amount, to the Party grieved.

Continuance of this Act.

ITEM, Forasmuch as it is meritorious and [alms,<sup>3</sup>] to [depart the Truth from the Deceit,<sup>4</sup>] as now of late in Parliament holden at Westminster, [much<sup>5</sup>] Deceit was put out, that greatly endamaged many Persons, which was called a [Saufte,<sup>6</sup>] otherwise called a [Powder<sup>7</sup>] or an Hauncer, which grieved many faithful People; and as now it is to be considered, that great Deceits be now used, which do endamage the poor Cloth-makers and the Sellers of Cloths [which in measuring unduly without reasonable<sup>8</sup>] Measure, as well of Broad Cloth and Strait, as much by the Hands of the Merchants Aliens, as Denizens, as well in Fair, Market, City, and Borough, and specially in the City of London, [as<sup>9</sup>] in other Places, where such Cloth-makers and Sellers of Cloth be most commonly used and in Time to come [ought to be<sup>10</sup>] repairing for where they were wont to measure the Cloth by the Yard and [the full Inch,<sup>11</sup>] now they will measure by the Yard and [the full Hand,<sup>12</sup>] which groweth to the Increase of the Buyer Two Yards of every Cloth of xxiiij. Yards, which Increase turneth to the Avail of no Man, of what Degree soever he be, but only to the (<sup>13</sup>) Buyer, for when a Lord shall buy his Livery, he shall find the same in Measure or in Price, and so they be oppressed with [a great and<sup>14</sup>] unreasonable measuring of their Cloths; for where any Merchant of this Land, but at London, will make a Cloth in measuring xxiiij. Yards, they will make thereof xxij. or less, saying that it is the Measure of London, by which oppression many men be grievously endamaged: Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, doth ordain by the Authority aforesaid, in every Place in this Land to be one certain Measure [whereas there is a Warden of the Aulnage of Cloth<sup>15</sup>] that he have a Line made of Silk or of Thread, of [the right<sup>16</sup>] Measure in Manner of straight [tissue,<sup>17</sup>] sealed at both Ends, after the Advice of the Barons of the Exchequer; and every [Warden<sup>18</sup>] of the Aulnage shall pay for his Line, which Line shall contain in Length Twelve Yards and Twelve Inches, and the said Line [signed<sup>19</sup>] at every Yard an Inch, and at the End of the Half-yard Half an Inch, the Quarter of a Yard a Quarter of an Inch, to measure a whole Cloth or a Dozen broad or straight, measuring for the Dozen of [Cloth watered,<sup>20</sup>] Twelve Yards and Twelve Inches, and of [dry Cloth unwatered<sup>21</sup>] Fourteen Yards and Fourteen Inches; so measuring the Length till the End of the Cloth, according as it is of Length in Manner as aforesaid, when the said [Warden<sup>22</sup>] of the Aulnage is required;

respecting Exportation
of Corn;

"Item, Forasmuch as by the Law ordained, no Man might carry nor bring Corn out of the Realm of England, without the King's Licence, by Cause whereof Farmers and other Men, which use Manurement of their Land, may not sell their Corn but at a low Price, to the great Damage of all the Realm: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, willing in this Case to provide Remedy, hath ordained by Authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful to every Person to ship and carry all manner of Corn and Grain out of this Realm, into what Place him shall like, except only to the King's Enemies, as often and as long as a Quarter of Wheat exceed not the Price of vj s. viij d. and a Quarter of Barley Three Shillings, in that Port where the Wheat or Barley is so shipped, and that without suing any Licence for the same; all other Ordinances made to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided always, That the King be contented of his Customs and Duties: And this Ordinance shall endure till the next Parliament:" Our said Sovereign Lord the King, Forasmuch as this Statute is not now in his Force, and that many Counties adjoining to the Sea, may not sell the Substance of their Corn, but by Carriage and bringing by the Sea, hath ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That the Statute and Ordinance aforesaid, now expired as afore is said, shall begin to hold his Force at the Feast of the Nativity of our Lady next ensuing, and shall endure from thence till the Parliament next to be holden after the same Feast, so that a Parliament be holden within Ten Years next ensuing after the first beginning of this present Parliament; And if so be that there be no Parliament holden within the same Ten Years, that then it shall continue and endure till the End of the same Ten Years.

The Statute 15 H. VI. c. 2, continued until the next Parliament; or for Ten Years.

HERE BEGIN THE STATUTES
Made at Westminster in the Twenty-third Year.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the Twenty-fifth Day of February, the Twenty-third Year of the Reign of (') King Henry the Sixth after the Conquest, the same our Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons being in the said Parliament, (') by the Authority of the same Parliament, made to be ordained and established divers Ordinances and Statutes in the Manner and Form following.

Recital of
St. 36 Ed III.
stat. 1. ch. 2.
Purveyors.

FIRST, Whereas in the Parliament holden the xxxvj. Year of King Edward the Third, for the grievous Complaints made against Purveyors of Victuals, It was ordained and established, that no Man of the Realm should have any Taking but only the King and the Queen his companion: And that upon such Purveyances to be made for the Houses of the King and the Queen, ready Payment should be made in hand, that is to say, the Price for which such Victuals should be commonly sold in the Markets about; and that the heinous Names of Purveyors should be changed, and named Buyers: "And if the Buyer cannot well agree with the Seller, of that which he shall need, then the Takings, which shall be made for the said two Houses, shall be made by the View, Testimony, and Appraisement of the Lords, or their Bailiffs, and Constables and Four good Men of every Town, and that by Indenture to be made betwixt the Buyers and the said Lords or Bailiffs, Constables, and Four Men, containing the Quantity of their Takings, and the Price, and of what Persons; And that the Takings be made in convenient and easy Manner, without Duress, Compulsion, Menace, or other Villainy: And that the Takings and Buyings be made in Places where greatest Plenty is, and that in a meet Time: And that no more be taken than shall be needful in the Season for the said two Houses: And that the Number of the said Buyers be diminished in as much as well may: And that such be Buyers which be sufficient to answer to the King and his People, and that none of them have Deputy: And that the Commissions be sealed with the Great Seal, and every Half-year re-delivered into the Chancery,

And moreover, whosoever will take upon him or them, to [have<sup>1</sup>] or occupy the said Office of Sheriff, by virtue of such Grants or Patents now to be made for Term of Years, for Term of Life, Fee Simple, or Fee Tail, shall stand for ever and at all Times disabled to be, or bear the Office of, Sheriff within any County in England by the same Authority; and that every liege Man which will sue for the said Sum forfeit, against him or them which in such Manner [doth forfeit or shall forfeit,<sup>2</sup>] shall be received and admitted to sue an Action of Debt in his own Name, our Lord the King to have the one Half of all that shall happen by the same Action to be recovered by such Suit, and he or they that so pursue to have the other Half.

ITEM, Whereas in the Parliament holden at Westminster at the xv. of Saint Michael, the Sixth Year of the Reign of the King that now is, for the great Damages and Losses that happened by the great Inundations of Water in divers Parts of this Realm, and that many greater Losses were like to have come, if Remedy had not been hastily provided, Wherefore by Authority of the said Parliament, It was ordained and granted, that during Ten Years then next ensuing, several Commissions of Sewers should be made to divers Persons, by the King's Chancellor of England for the Time being named, in all Parts of this Realm where need is, after the Form following in the same Statute; by reason whereof the said Mischiefs were greatly reformed and amended: And Whereas now of late in divers Parts of this Realm, by great [rising<sup>3</sup>] of Water, many Towns and Lands to a great Quantity be [drowned<sup>4</sup>] and destroyed, to the great [Hinderance<sup>5</sup>] of this Realm, and great Prejudice, Damage, and Mischief, be very likely to fall, if Remedy be not hastily for the same provided; The King considering the Premises, and how the Ten Years be passed, hath ordained by Authority aforesaid, That during the Term of xv. Years next ensuing, the Chancellor of England for the Time being shall have Power to make Commissions of Sewers out of the King's Chancery, under the King's great Seal, in such Form as it was granted to be made by the Statute made the said Sixth Year.

ITEM, The King, considering the great Perjury, Extortion, and Oppression which be and have been in this Realm by his Sheriffs, Under Sheriffs, and their Clerks, Coroners, Stewards of Franchises, Bailiffs, and Keepers of Prisons, and other Officers in divers Counties of this Realm, hath ordained by Authority aforesaid, in eschewing of all such Extortion, Perjury, and Oppression, that no Sheriff shall let to ferm in any manner, his County, nor any of his Bailiwicks, Hundreds, nor Wapentakes; nor that the said Sheriffs, Under Sheriffs, Bailiffs of Franchises, nor any other Bailiff, shall return upon any Writ or Precept to them directed [to be returned<sup>6</sup>] any Inquests, in any Panel thereupon to be made, any Bailiffs, Officers, or Servants to any of the Officers aforesaid, in any Panel by them so to be made; nor that [any<sup>7</sup>] of the said Officers and Ministers, by Occasion or under Colour of their Office, shall take any other Thing, by them nor by any other Person to their Use [Profit<sup>8</sup>] or Avail, of any Person by them or any of them to be arrested or attached, nor of none other for them, for the [omitting<sup>9</sup>] of any Arrest or Attachment to be made by their [Body,<sup>10</sup>]

Point against this Statute, and the Process (') shall be by Attachment, Capias, and Exigend: Also that the Justices of Peace shall assess no Fine upon any which shall be conviēt before them of a Thing done contrary to any Statute of Labourers or Artificers, or for that Cause put him in the [good] Grace of our Sovereign Lord the King, under iii s. iij d. And also that the Justices of Peace through (') the Realm Two Times every Year shall do openly to be proclaimed in their Sessions all the Statutes of Labourers, Artificers, Howlers, Victuallers, Servants, and Vagabonds before this Time made and not revoked; with this Statute: Also that by Colour of [the Tenor of less Lands'] than the Husbandry [of the same'] shall suffice to the continual Occupation of One Man, no Man shall be excused to serve by the Year, upon the Pain to be justified as a Vagabond; Also that Justices of Peace shall have Power to take all Servants retained with any Person by Colour of Husbandry, and not duly occupied about the same, which Servants ought by the Law to be Servants of Husbandry, (') and to compel them to serve, in the Occupation of Husbandry, to such as shall require their Service, and to justify them in every Point as the same Justices have Power to justify Vagabonds: And that this Statute shall begin to be of force and executory, in the Feast of Saint Michael which shall be in the Year of our Lord One thousand four hundred and forty-six, and in no wise before.

ITEM, The King hath ordained and established by the Authority aforesaid, That if any [Buyer'] or other Officer of the Duke of Gloucester, or of any other Lord or Person, of what Estate Degree or Condition that he be, presume upon him to take, or else do take any Victuals, Corn, Hay, Carriages, or any other Thing whatsoever, of any of the King's liege People in any wise against their Will, without lawful Bargain betwixt the said [Buyers'] or Officers, and the said liege People thereof to be made, to the Use of the said Duke or (') other Lord for their Houses, but only for the King and the Queen, and their Houses, that then if Notice or Request be made to the Mayor, Sheriff, Bailiff, Constable, Officers, or other of the King's Ministers of the Cities and Boroughs, or other Counties or Places where such Taking shall happen to be, that then the said Mayor, Sheriff, Constable, Officer, and Minister, to whom such Notice and Request shall be made, presently shall take and arrest all such [Buyers'] and Officers so doing or offending, and them shall send to the King's next Prison, there to remain, and not to be let to Bail nor Mainprise, until they have redelivered [the same'] Victuals, Carriages, and other Things so taken, or the very Value of the same: And if the said Mayor, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, Constables and Officers aforesaid, do contrary to this, that then they shall forfeit Twenty Pounds, whereof the King shall have the one Half, and the Party from whom such Things be taken, the other Half, if he will sue, by an Action of Debt, in the which the Defendant shall not wage his Law; And if he will not sue, whosoever will sue for the King and himself shall have the Suit, to recover to himself the one Half thereof, and the King the other Half. And if any of the said [Buyers,'] other than of the King and Queen be duly conviēt of such unlawful Taking, as afore is recited, at the Suit of such Parties as shall sue them in this Behalf, that then they shall yield to the Party which so Provided always, that by this Act the Punishment ordained against the King's Purveyors in no wise shall be restrained.

ITEM, Whereas by Authority of a Parliament holden at Westminster, the First Year of the Reign of [King Henry,] Father to the King that now is, amongst other Things it was ordained, That the Citizens and Burgesses of Cities and Boroughs, coming to the Parliament, should be chosen Men Citizens and Burgesses resident, dwelling, and free in the same Cities and Boroughs, and none other, as in the same Statute more fully is contained; which Citizens and Burgesses have always in Cities and Boroughs been chosen by Citizens and Burgesses, and no other, and to the Sheriffs of the Counties returned, and upon their Returns received and accepted [by] the Parliaments before this holden: And also, whereas by Authority of a Parliament holden at Westminster, the Eighth Year of the Reign of the King that now is, it was ordained in what Manner and Form the Knights of the Shires [coming] to the Parliaments from thenceforth to be holden should be chosen, and how the Sheriffs of the same Counties thereupon should make their Returns, as in the same Statute more fully appeareth; by Force of which Statute, Elections of Knights to come to Parliament sometimes have been duly made, and lawfully returned, until now of late, that divers Sheriffs of the Counties of the Realm of England, for their singular Avail and Lucre, have not made due Elections of the Knights, nor in convenient Time, [nor good Men and true returned,<sup>1</sup>] and sometime no [Return<sup>2</sup>] of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses lawfully chosen to come to the Parliaments; but [such Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses have been returned,<sup>3</sup>] which were never duly chosen, and other Citizens and Burgesses than those which by the Mayors, and Bailiffs were to the said Sheriffs returned; and sometimes the Sheriffs have not returned the Writs which they had to make Elections of Knights to come to the Parliaments, but the said Writs have imbealed, and moreover made no Precept to the Mayor and Bailiffs, or to the Bailiffs or Bailiff where no Mayor is, of Cities and Boroughs, for the Elections of Citizens and Burgesses, to come to the Parliaments, by Colour of these Words contained in the same Writs: "Quod in pleno comitatu tuo eligi facias pro comitatu tuo duos Milites, et pro qualibet civitate in comitatu tuo duos Cives, et pro quolibet burgo in comitatu tuo duos Burgenses;" and also because sufficient Penalty and convenient Remedy for the Party in such Case grieved is not ordained in the said Statutes against the Sheriffs, Mayors, and Bailiffs, which do contrary to the Form of the said Statutes: The King considering the Premises hath ordained by Authority aforesaid, That the said Statutes shall be duly kept (<sup>4</sup>) in all Points: And moreover that every Sheriff, after the Delivery of any such Writ to him made, shall make and deliver without Fraud a sufficient Precept under his Seal to every Mayor and Bailiff, or to Bailiffs or Bailiff where no Mayor is, of the Cities and Boroughs within his County, reciting

OF THE TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the Twelfth Day of February, the Seven-and-twentieth Year of the Reign of our Lord King Henry the Sixth, after the Conquest, the same our Lord the King, by Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons, being in the same Parliament, [hath<sup>1</sup>] ordained and established divers Ordinances and Statutes, in Manner and Form following.

FIRST, Forasmuch as a certain Ordinance hath been proclaimed, published, and strictly kept in the Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, that no Manner of Woollen Cloths made in this Realm of England, shall not come [in<sup>2</sup>] the said Parts, there to be sold in any wise, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Cloths; Wherefore the King our Sovereign Lord, because that it is expressly against the Truce and Appointments made and taken betwixt his Realms Lands and Subjects of the one Party, and the Lands which the Duke of Burgoin doth hold and occupy of the other Party, many Times before this Time hath made his Letters of Request to be written, and sent his [Message<sup>3</sup>] for due Reformation to be had in this Behalf, whereof no due Remedy is yet had, to the intolerable Damage of all the Commons of this Realm, because that many Clothmakers, that is to say, Men, Weavers Fullers and Dyers, and Women, [Websters<sup>4</sup>] Carders and Spinners, and other Buyers and Sellers of the same, such as do know none other Occupacions, of very Necessity be constrained for their Living to do the same Occupacions, [and some of them live idly,<sup>5</sup>] which provoketh them to Sin and evil Life: The King considering the Premises, hath ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That unless due continual Reformation be made in the said Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, of the said Ordinance, betwixt this and the Feast of Saint Michael next coming, so that all Manner of Woollen Cloths made in this Realm [of England] may come and be accepted in the same Parts of Holland, Brabant, and Zealand, there to be uttered and sold as [speedily<sup>6</sup>] as any other Merchandises, that then for Default of such Reformation in this Behalf no Manner of Merchandises nor Goods, of the growing or workmanship of the Lands and Parts which the said Duke holdeth and occupieth, shall come [in<sup>7</sup>] the said Realm of England after the said Feast, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Merchandises [so brought into this Realm,<sup>8</sup>] that is to say, the one Half (<sup>9</sup>) to [our Sovereign Lord] the King, and the other Half thereof to him which first shall seize

the great Decrease of the Customs at Calais, and of the Decay of the Town;

ITEM, Forasmuch as King Edward the Third, by great Deliberation ordained his whole Staple of Wools Woolfels and other Merchandises to be at Calais, for the Weal and Profit of (<sup>3</sup>) his Realm, and Safeguard of the said Town; and by the great Liberties and Franchises given to Merchants thither repairing, [after that many Years<sup>4</sup>] came great Revenues to him and to his Successors, as it appeareth of Record in the King's Exchequer, that is to say, in [every<sup>5</sup>] Year of his Reign lxxij M. li. and more, and so continued many Years, at which Time great Riches came into this Realm of England by the mean of Merchants of the said Staple then being many in Number and of great Riches, good Justice and Law had betwixt Party and Party, and by them well executed, the said Town of Calais and the Marches were well repaired, and Soldiers paid of their Wages; [although that maintenant<sup>6</sup>] by divers and many Licences given by Letters Patents, and by misusing of the said Licences in buying of Wools and Woolfels in other Places than their Licence containeth, in shipping [great<sup>7</sup>] Number and Weight, and colouring the same by new [contrived<sup>8</sup>] Names, as Morling and Shorling; and some Persons which according to their Licence ought to have carried their Wools over the Mountains, have sold the same in Brabant, and in other Places, to such Men which were wont to be accustomed to buy their Wools at the Staple of Calais; and also by great stealing out of Wools and Woolfels not customed in divers Parts of England, of Ireland, and of Wales, oftentimes by the Consent and Mean of [unlawful<sup>9</sup>] Officers as Searchers and Surveyors, which take no Fee, but privy Rewards for doing wrong to the King; and by divers Restraints of Merchandises in Calais, as well by Wars as by Soldiers for their Wages, and many other Causes, in which the Merchants of the said Staple [be not of Ability nor<sup>10</sup>] Power to enjoy their Liberties and Franchises of old Time used and accustomed: Now it is so, that by the Means aforesaid, and by the breaking of [such Staples,<sup>11</sup>] the Customs and Subsidies of the Merchandises repairing to the said Staple of Calais pass not yearly xij M. pound, which is but little in Comparison to that that they have been heretofore, the Commons of this Land not enriched by their Wools and Woolfels, and other Merchandises, as they were wont to be, the Merchants greatly minished as well in Number as in Goods, and not [of<sup>12</sup>] Power nor [of<sup>13</sup>] Comfort to buy the Wools and Woolfels, and other Merchandises as they have done of old Time, the Soldiers of Calais and of the Marches there not paid of their Wages, the Town of Calais by Default of Reparation, as well within the Town Walls Towers and Castle, as without the Reparations which should be made for Defence of the Town and of the Water [without,'] likely to be (') destroyed, which God defend, except that Remedy be hastily provided : Our said Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, hath ordained and established by Authority aforesaid, That the Mayor, Constables, and [Company'] of Merchants of the Staple of Calais for the Time being, and their Successors for ever, may have and enjoy all their Franchises and Liberties and every of them, and whole Repair of all manner of Merchandises to the said Staple, by the said King or by his noble Progenitors to them or to their Predecessors, or any of them, by the Authority of Parliament granted or confirmed, not repealed nor excepted. And that the said Mayor, Constables, and their Successors, may by themselves or by their Officers and Ministers do Execution of all manner of Things and Matters, the Knowledge whereof to them [pertaineth,'] as well within the Town of Calais, as without the Town in the Precinct pertaining to the same, called the [Skyvynage']; any Commandment, Writing, or any other Thing made or to be made to the contrary notwithstanding. Provided always, that by this Act no Man shall be excluded of his lawful Suit by Writ of Error, of any Judgment given before the said Mayor and Constables ; nor the Chancellor of England and the King's Council shall not be excluded to redress the Defaults of the said Mayor and Constables, after the Form of the Statute made the xxvii. Year of the Reign of King Edward the Third. And that no Manner of Licence for shipping of Wools and Woolfels, or of Tin, granted to any Person or Persons, shall be effectual nor available to him or to them, to carry or bring any such Wools, Woolfels, or Tin out of this Realm of England, Ireland or Wales, to any other Place than to the said Staple of Calais. And that all manner of Licence by our said Sovereign Lord the King, or any that every Person or Persons which shall accept, obtain, and put in Execution any such Licence, or he or they to whose Use any such Licence is or shall be granted and had, and by them or by any other by their Agreement or Consent put in Execution, shall be out of the King's Protection ; and moreover, that it shall be lawful to the said Mayor, Constables, and [Company'] of Merchants of the said Staple, and to their Successors for ever, to have and pursue an Action upon this Statute against every Person or Persons, which shall offend contrary to this Ordinance, and to have such Process in the same as is provided in the Premuniri facias, or such Process as by the (') Law is in an Action of Trespass done against the King's Peace, at their Election. And if any Person or Persons at their Suit upon the same be convict or attainted, that the same Mayor, Constables, and [Company'] of Merchants shall have Judgement to recover all the moveable Goods and Chattels, that any ITEM, Whereas at the grievous Complaint of the Commons of the Counties of Hereford, Gloucester, and Shropshire, which be adjoining to the Marches of Wales, and of the Commons of the Counties of Somerset, Bristol, and Chester, at the Parliament holden at Westminster the xx. Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, It was ordained by Authority of the said Parliament, that if any People of the said Counties, their Goods and Chattels were wrongfully taken in any of the said Counties by any Men of Wales, and out of the said Counties into Wales, or into the Marches of Wales [conveyed,] carried, [or brought,] or retained, that such Taking or Takings, Receipts, Abettments, or [withholding] of such Offences aforesaid, [shall be] be judged High Treason, and whosoever thereof [shall be] attainted, [shall be] be [taken] and judged as Traitors to our Sovereign Lord the King; and that the Justices of Peace in their Sessions in the said Counties, [shall have] Power to enquire, and there to determine of all such Offenders, their Abettors and Receivers, and to make Process against the Persons so indicted by ij. Capias and an Exigent, every Capias containing the Space of Two Months betwixt the Date thereof and the Return of the same; and that Mention [shall be] made in the said Writs of Capias, that the Sheriffs of the Counties for the Time being [shall make] Proclamation in their Counties, that they so indicted [shall appear] before the said Justices in their Sessions, to answer to the Matters contained in the said Indictments; Provided always, that the Lords Marchers, of whom such Offenders, their Abettors and Receivers [shall hold] their Lands and Tenements, [shall have] the Forfeiture thereof, and also the Forfeiture of their Goods and Chattels found within their Seignories, after that they [shall be] attainted of such Offences; which Ordinance should endure but for vj. Years then next ensuing: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, at the Request of the Commons of the said Counties, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, will, that the [said] Ordinance made in the said Parliament holden at Westminster the [said] Twentieth Year of his said Reign, for such wrongful Taking, [shall endure for Six Years, and] shall take Effect and be in his Force till the next Parliament, and then to expire.

ITEM, Considering the abominable Injuries and Offences done (") to Almighty God, and to his Saints always (") Aiders and singular Assistors in our Necessities, because of Fairs and Markets upon their high and principal Feasts, as in the Feast of the Ascension of our Lord, in the Day of Corpus Christi, in the Day of Whitsunday, in Trinity Sunday, with other Sundays, and also in the high Feast of the Assumption of our Blessed Lady, the Day of All Saints, and on Good Friday, accustomedly and [miserably] holden and used in the Realm of England; in which principal and festival Days, for great earthly Covetise, the People is [more willingly] vexed, and in bodily Labour [foiled,] than in other ferial Days, as in [fastening] and making their Booths and Stalls, bearing and carrying, lifting and placing their Wares outward and homeward, as though they did nothing remember the horrible Defiling of their Souls in buying and selling, with many deceitful Lyes, and false Perjury, with Drunkenness and Strife, and [so] specially withdrawing themselves and their Servants from divine Service :

IV. Recital of the St. 20 H.VI. c. 3. against Welchmen who take away Englishmen, their Goods and Chattels into Wales;

The recited Act continued until the next Parliament.

V. The Scandal of holding Fairs and Markets on Sundays and upon High Feast Days.

Fairs and Markets shall not be holden Sundays or on Festivals.

Exception of the Four Sundays in Harvest.

Grantees of Fairs and Markets shall have their full Complement of Days, excluding Sundays and the said Feast Days.

Commencement and Continuance of this Act.

VI. Priests grievously vexed by Indictments for Felony;

The King's Pardon, in consideration of a Subsidy, of all Rapes, done by Priests;

And of all Forfeitures for taking excessive Salaries.

the foresaid Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons of this Realm of England, being in the said Parliament, and by Authority of the same Parliament, hath ordained, That all Manner of Fairs and Markets in the said principal Feasts and Sundays, and Good-Friday, shall clearly cease from all shewing of any Goods or Merchandises, necessary Victual only except, upon Pain of Forfeiture of all the Goods aforesaid, so shewed, to the Lord of the Franchise or Liberty where such Goods, contrary to this Ordinance, be or shall be shewed, the Four Sundays in Harvest except; Nevertheless, of his special Grace, by Authority aforesaid, [granteth<sup>1</sup>] to them Power, which of old Time have no Day to hold their Fair or Market but only upon the Festival Days aforesaid, to hold [by the same<sup>2</sup>] Authority and Strength of [his<sup>3</sup>] old Grant, within Three Days next before the said Feasts, or next after (*) Proclamation first made [to the simple common People, upon which Day the aforesaid Fair shall be holden, always to be certified,<sup>4</sup>] without any Fine or Fee to be taken to the King's Use; and they which of old Time have by special Grant sufficient Days before the Feasts aforesaid, or after, shall in like Manner as is aforesaid, hold their Fairs and Markets the full Number of their Days the said Festival Days and Sundays and Good-Fridays, except. Provided always, That this present Ordinance shall begin to take Effect at the Feast of Saint Michael next coming, and not before, and shall endure until the next Parliament, and so forth, except in the said Parliament a reasonable Cause be alledged, shewed, and proved, for the which it shall seem not expedient that the foresaid Ordinance so shall endure.

ITEM, Forasmuch as in divers Parts of the Realm of England, many Priests, as well Secular as Religious, were grievously and wrongfully vexed and troubled by divers Indictments of Felony, to their great Damage, against Fairh and Conscience, for the singular Lucre of other Persons, and not for the King's Profit: Our said Sovereign Lord the King considering the Premises, and for that the Clergy being in the last Convocation, granted to our said Sovereign Lord the King a Subsidy, to be taken and levied of all [secular Priests-stipendiary,<sup>5</sup>] and Chantery Priests within the Realm of England, that is to say, of every Priest vi. Shillings and viii. d. by the Advice and Assent and Authority aforesaid, hath pardoned and acquitted all and every Priest, as well Religious as Secular, of all Felonies of Rape done before the First Day of June, the xxvii. year of the Reign of our said Sovereign Lord the King. And also hath pardoned and released by the same Authority to all and every Priest Secular, Stipendiary [and annual, all the same<sup>6</sup>] that to the said our Sovereign Lord the King pertaineth or belongeth, by Way of Forfeiture, of every of them before the said First Day of the Month of June, because of taking excessive [Wages<sup>7</sup>] contrary to the Statutes thereof made; and that every of them may have sufficient Writs thereupon for their Discharge without suing any Charter.

OF THE TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

TO the Honour of God and of Holy Church, and for the common Wealth and Profit of all the Realm of England, Our Lord the King, Henry the Sixth after the Conquest, by Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons [in the Parliament assembled of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is,] holden at Westminster the Sixth Day of November, the Eight-and-twentieth Year of his Reign, by Authority of the same Parliament, hath ordained and established certain Ordinances and Statutes in Manner and Form following.

FIRST, Whereas at his Parliament holden at Westminster the xxvii. Year of his Reign, because of a certain Ordinance, had, proclaimed, published, and straightly kept in the Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, that no Manner of Woollen Cloths made in this Realm (¹) should not come into the said Parts, there to be sold in any wise, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Cloths, Wherefore our said Sovereign Lord the King, because that it was expressly against the Truce and Appointment, made and taken betwixt his Realms Lands and Subjects of the one Part, and the Lands which the Duke of Burgoin [holdeth and occupieth¹] of other Part, many Times before [this¹] Time made his Letters of Request to be written, and sent his [Message¹] for due Reformation to be had in this Behalf, whereof no due Remedy [is¹] yet had, to the (¹) intolerable Damage of all the Commons of this Realm, because that many Clothmakers, that is to say, Men, Weavers Fullers and Dyers, and Women [Websters,¹] Carders, and Spinners, and other Buyers and Sellers of the same, such which know none other Occupation, of very Necessity [be¹] constrained for their Living to do these Occupations, and some of them [live idly,¹] which provoketh them to Sin and Evil Life; and upon this Consideration in the said Parliament the said xxvii. Year, It was ordained, That unless due continual Reformation were made in the said Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, of the said Ordinance, betwixt [this¹] Time and the Feast of Saint Michael then next ensuing, so that all Manner of Woollen Cloths made in this Realm [may¹] come and be accepted in the same Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, there to be uttered and sold as [speedily¹] as any other Merchandises; that then for Default of such Reformation in [this¹] Behalf, no manner of Merchandises nor Goods of the Growing nor Years, if due Reformation be not made within that Time.

ITEM, Whereas divers Hostlers, Brewers, and other Victuallers, keeping Hosteries and other Houses of retailing of Victuals in divers Places in this Realm, have purchased the King's Letters Patents, some to them for Term of Life, and some to them and to other jointly for Term of their Lives, to take Horses and Carts [for the Carriage of"] the King and Queen, more for their [private"] and singular Lucre and Profit, than for any faithful Service of the King, or of the Queen; by colour of which Letters Patents they daily take Horses and Carts where that no need is, and bring them to their Hosteries and other Places of their Affinity, and there keep them secretly, sometime until they have spent xx d. or xld. of their Stuff, and sometime more, and

Earl, Viscount, or Baron, he shall lose and forfeit all Offices, Fees, Annuities, and other Possessions that he, or any Man to his Use, hath of the Gift or Grant of the King or of any of his Progenitors, made to him or any of his Ancestors. And that then the said Chancellor for the time being, [shall do to be made'] another Writ or Writs of Proclamation, to be directed to the said Sheriffs of the said Counties and City for the time being, to make open Proclamation and Return of the same Writ or Writs, and upon the same Pain as afore is specified and ordained upon the said first Writ of Proclamation; And if he make Default, and do not appear at the Day to him limited by the said last Writ or Writs of Proclamation, that then he shall lose and forfeit his Estate and Name of Lord, and [his Place in the Parliament.'] Provided, That the [said] Forfeiture of the Offices, Fees, Annuities, and other Possessions, and also of the said Estate and Name of Lord, and Place, shall extend but only for Term of Life of him or of them, which by the Authority of this Act shall forfeit the said Offices, Fees, Annuities, Possessions, State, Name, and Place, or any of them, in the Form aforesaid; And if any Lord of (') the said Estates of a Duke, Marquis, Earl, Viscount, or Baron, [having nothing'] of the King's Grant nor of [his'] Progenitors, do disobey, as afore, after the said Proclamation, in Manner and Form aforesaid made, returned and certified, then he shall forfeit for Term of his Life to the King his Name and Estate of Lord and [Place in the Parliament,'] and also all the Lands and Tenements which he hath or any other to his Use hath. And that every other Person under the State of a Lord, having Livelihood, or to whose Use any other Person or Persons (') have any Livelihood, if he appear not within the Month after the Proclamation made by virtue of the first Writ or Writs, he shall make a Fine after the Discretion of the Two Chief Justices of his Bench, and of his Common Bench for the time being. And that every other Person, having no Livelihood, nor none other Person to his Use, so making Default, shall be put out of the King's Protection. Provided always, That if any of the King's liege People, named in the said Writs or Letters, be not within this his Realm at the Time of any of the said Writs delivered and returned, nor absent him within the said Realm, and also if [the'] Person or Persons against whom such Writs of Proclamation hereafter shall be awarded, be so grievously vexed or troubled by Infirmity [of'] Sickness, or [otherwise'] such Persons be imprisoned without Fraud or Male-engine, or that they be so feeble for Age, that they may not labour in their proper Persons, so that such dwelling out of the Realm, Feebleness, or Sickness, Imprisonment, [and'] Debility of Age be sufficiently and duly proved by just and indifferent Examination before the Lords of the King's Council, they shall not be endamaged by this Act. Provided also, That no Matter determinable by the Law of this Realm shall be by [the same'] Act determined in other Form than after the Course of the same Law in the King's Courts having Determination of the same Law. This Act to begin and take Effect the First Day of May, the Two-and-thirtieth Year of the Reign of the said King, of all Disobeisances to be made after the same first Day, and of no Disobeisance the Party, in Time to come in the County of Lancaster, [shall'] forfeit any of his Goods or Chattels, Lands or Tenements in any other County, [but all'] only the Goods or Chattels, Lands and Tenements, which the Persons so outlawed, or they against whom such Exigend [shall'] be awarded in the said County of Lancaster, have in the same County; and by reason of any such Outlawry, at the King's Suit or at the Suit of any other Person, pronounced within the said County of Lancaster, he [shall'] not be forebarred nor disabled of any manner of Action, nor to claim any manner of Inheritance out of the same County, nor disabled to pursue any Manner of Action out of the same County, notwithstanding such Outlawry against him pronounced; as in the said Statute more fully appear-eth; which Statute is now expired, because it was ordained to endure but for Seven Years then next ensuing, which Statute was profitable and necessary to the King's liege People: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, by Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in the said Parliament assembled, and at the Request of the said Commons, and by the Authority of the same Parliament, hath ordained and established, That the said late Statute shall be in his force and virtue, taking Effect and Force at the last Day of March, the Thirtieth Year of his Reign, and from that Day to endure for ever.

ITEM, Whereas in the Parliament holden at Westminster the Sixth Day of November, the xxvij. Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King, in the Act of Resumption, among other Things, It was ordained and established, by the Authority of the same Parliament, That it [pleaseth'] him to take, resume, seise, and retain in his Hands and Possession all Honours, Castles, Seignories, Towns, Villages, Manors, of the same: And moreover in the said Parliament, the said vj Day of March, a certain Subsidy of Wools and Woolfels was granted to the King, that is to say, of every Merchant Denizen for the Subsidy of every Sack of Wool xliij s. iij d. and of every CC xl.

Woolfels xliij s. iij d. [to have'] to him for Term of his Life natural, [at the Third Day'] of April; as in the Act of the Grant thereof made in this same Parliament more fully appeareth; [Wherefore'] the poor Subjects Merchants of the Staple of Calais, shall be compelled, after the said Third Day of April, to pay to the King, of every Sack of Wool, and of every CCxl. Woolfels, x s. more by way of Subsidy than they have been accustomed to pay in any Days of the Reign of the said King; which Charge being to them importable, is likely to be the Cause that they shall not be of Power to buy or ship any great Quantity of Wools of (') this Realm, to be had to the said Staple, whereof [shall'] ensue very excessive Diminution and Decrease of the Price and Value of the Wools and Woolfels of this Realm, and of the great annual Revenues of the Customs and Subsidies which should grow to the King, of the Shipping of such Wools and Woolfels, and to the abating of the Payment of Wages of the Soldiers intending upon the Safeguard of the Town and Marches of Calais, and also the poor Growers of Wools of this Realm (') greatly im-po'verished: Our said Sovereign Lord the King will, by the the Authority aforesaid, That every Merchant Denizen, [his liege Man born'] within this his Realm, which shall ship and carry any Wools or Woolfels to the Staple of Calais, or [by'] the Straights of Marrock, by the King's Licence for such Wools and Woolfels so shipped and carried to the said Staple or [by'] the said Straights, shall be quit and discharged of [the said x s.] Parcel of the said Subsidy of xliij s. iij d. granted to the King in this said Parliament, of every Sack of Wool, and of every CCxl. Woolfels [at "] the said Third Day of April, specified in the said Grant, by the Space of Five Years then next ensuing: And also that every (") Merchant Denizen shall be quit, and not chargeable by virtue of the said Grant, of the Subsidy of xij d. of the Value of every xx s. of all manner of Woolen Cloths, by them or any of them to be had out of this Realm, to any Parts beyond the Sea, [at "] the said Third Day, by the Space of Three Years then next ensuing.

ITEM, Whereas in all Parts of this Realm divers People of great Power, moved with unsatiable Covetousness, against all Right, [Humanity, Integrity,'] and good Conscience, have [sought "] and found new In-

Abuses in compelling Women, to be bound by Obligations,
or to marry against their liking.

and when any Women, by such Means or by any other Means be in their Government, the said evil disposed Person or Persons will not suffer them to go at large, and be at their Liberty, until they will bind themselves to the said Offenders, or other Person or Persons to [their own<sup>1</sup>] Use, in great Sums, by Obligation or Obligations, as well [simple<sup>2</sup>] as conditional, or by Obligation or Obligations of Statute Merchant, made before a Mayor or Bailiff, having Power to take such Recognisances; also they will many Times compel them to be married by them, contrary to their own Likings, or otherwise they will levy the said Sum or Sums on their Lands and Goods, and put their Person or Persons in Danger, to their great Damage; which hath been, and is like to be an universal Prejudice to the Law of Holy Church, and the Law of this Realm, unless due Remedy thereupon be provided: Our said Lord the King, considering the Premises, hath ordained and stablished, by Authority of this present Parliament, That in all such Cases aforesaid, the Party bound may have a Writ out of the Chancery, containing all the Matter of their unreasonable [Intreaty,<sup>3</sup>] directed to the Sheriff of the County where any such Offences were so done, or hereafter shall be done, commanding him, that he, by Force of [this<sup>4</sup>] Writ, make Proclamation in the full County, [and in<sup>5</sup>] the next County Court after the Receipt of the said Writ, that the Person or Persons contained in the said Writ [shall<sup>6</sup>] appear at a certain Day and Place prefixed in the said Writ, before the Chancellor of England for the Time being, or otherwise before the Justices of Assise in the said Counties where the said Offences were done, or else before some other notable Person to be assigned by the Chancellor of England for the time being; at the which Day and Place, if the said Parties appear, that then the said Chancellor [of England,] Justice, or other Person so to be assigned by the said Chancellor for the Time being, by virtue of this Ordinance, shall duly examine the said Parties upon the Premises; by which Examination, if they can find the said Obligation or Obligations, or any of them, [so to be made<sup>7</sup>] as is aforesaid, that then the said Obligation or Obligations, and all Process and Execution sued or to be [pursued<sup>8</sup>] thereupon, shall be void, and of no [Force nor] Effect. And if it be found by Examination before them, that the said Obligation or Obligations, or any of them, were made, or shall be found to be made, for a true Duty, and by no such Means as afore is said, that then the said Obligation or Obligations, and all the Process and Execution sued or to be [pursued<sup>9</sup>] thereupon, shall stand good and effectual. And if it be so that the Person or Persons in such Writs named, or to be named, against whom any such [Letters or] Writs hereafter shall be sued, make Default at the Day and Place limited in the same Writ or Writs, that then all such Obligation or Obligations as be before specified [and declared,] and in the said Writ or Writs expressed, [declared and specified,] and all manner of Process and Execution sued or to be sued thereupon, shall be void, [and of no force nor effect;] and that the [said] Sheriff or Sheriffs, to whom such Writ or Writs upon this Ordinance hereafter [commenced,<sup>10</sup>] shall be directed, [shall<sup>11</sup>] execute the said Writs according to the Tenour of the same,

The Party, so compelled to become bound, may sue a Writ out of Chancery to summon the Person complained of;

The Chancellor, &c. may examine into the Complaint, and do justice.

OF THE THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

HENRY, by the Grace of God, King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, the Sixth after the Conquest, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Ninth Day of July, the Three-and-thirtieth Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons of his Realm of England, being in the same Parliament, and by Authority of the same Parliament, made and ordained certain Ordinances and Statutes (') for the common Wealth of the same Realm, in the Form following.

FIRST, Our foresaid Lord the King, considering, how that of late Time divers [Houshold "] Servants, as well of Lords, as of other Persons of good Degree, shortly after the Death of their said Lords and Masters, violently and riotously have taken and spoiled the Goods which were of their said Lords and Masters at the Time of their Death, and the same distributed amongst them, to the Impediment of the Execution of the Will of their said Lords and Masters, and to the great Displeasure of God, and also contrary to the Duty and Truth which they ought to have had towards their said Lords and Masters, and to a (') perilous Example in Time to come, unless due Remedy in this Behalf be provided: Wherefore the same Lord the King, by the Advice Assent and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That after full Information made to the Chancellor of England for the Time being, by the Executors of any such Lords or Person, or Two of the said Executors, of (') such Riot, Taking, and Spoil made, or hereafter to be made, by the [Houshold "] Servants of their or his said Testator after his Death, the same Chancellor, by the Advice of the Chief Justices of the King's Bench, and of the Common Bench, and Chief Baron of the Exchequer for the Time being, or Two of them, shall have Power to make so many and such Writs, to be directed to such Sheriffs by their Discretion, as to them in this Behalf shall seem necessary, to make open Proclamation in such Cities, Boroughs, Towns, [or Places,] (') Two Market Days within Twelve Days next after the Delivery of the same Writs, as to the same Chancellor, by the Advice aforesaid, shall seem reasonable, That the said Offenders shall appear before the same our Lord the King, or his Heirs, in his Bench, at such a Day as by the said Writ shall be limited, so that the said last Proclamation be made [by Fifteen Days'] before the same Day of Appearance; And if any such Writ be returned at the Day contained in the said Writ, and the Writ be [executed,'] that Proclamation is thereupon had and made according to the said Ordinance, and then if the said Person or Persons, which should appear by reason of the said Proclamation, make Default at the Day specified in the said Writ, and do not appear, then he or they so making Default shall be attainted of Felony: And if any such Persons or Person do appear at [the same ''] Day, then the Justices of the said King's Bench shall have Power by [the said Ordinance,'] to commit such Person or Persons so appearing, to Prison, there to remain according to the said Justices' Discretion, until the said Offenders in the said Bench do answer to the said Executors, in such Actions [which ''] the said Executors will declare against them, or any of them, by Bill or by Writ, for the Riot taking and spoiling aforesaid, and that the same Actions be determined, so that the same Actions be pursued with Effect, and not slackly, to the Intent to keep the same Person or Persons in Prison. And if such Persons or Person be set at Liberty out of Prison by the said Justices, that then the same Persons or Person shall find sufficient Persons to be bounden with them to the said Executors, (') by way of Recognisance in the said Bench, by Discretion of the Justices, to keep such Days as he or they shall have by the same Court; and if the Keepers of the Prison, whereunto the said Person or Persons be committed, do let them go at large out of the Prison of his own Authority, without the Consideration and Order of the said Justices, then the said Keeper shall forfeit and lose Four hundred Pounds to the said Executors; and that no Protection be allowed in any Action to be taken upon [the said Ordinance.']

In Default of Appearance, the Offenders shall be guilty of Felony;

On Appearance they shall be committed to Prison to answer the Executors in the Action.

Penalty on the Gaoler for a wilful Escape of such Offender.

II. Recital of the Statute 31 H. VI. c. 6. making perpetual the Statute 20 H. VI. c. 2. that they which be outlawed in the County of Lancaster, shall forfeit no Lands nor Goods that they have in other Counties.

ITEM, Because that the humble and faithful liege People of the King, his Subjects inhabiting within the County Palatine of Lancaster, to do the King Service be and at all Times were ready, and have done to him and his Progenitors, as well in the Realm of England as in the Realm of Scotland, France, and other Parts, and have been governed by the King's Laws, and not damaged by the same, otherwise than other of the King's liege People inhabiting in the Realm [of England] out of the same County; until now of late by a certain Statute, at the last Parliament holden at Reading, It was ordained and established, That none of the King's liege People, against whom any Exigent should be awarded, or Outlagary pronounced, at the Suit of the King or of the Party, in the said County, should forfeit any Goods or Chattels, Lands or Tenements in any [County,'] but only the Goods and Chattels, Lands and Tenements, which the Persons so outlawed, or they against whom any such Exigent in the said County should be awarded, have in the same County of Lancaster; and by reason of any such Outlagary at the Suit of the King or at the Suit of [the Party,'] pronounced within the same County, should not be barred or disabled of any manner of

And if any of the said Officers, or any of their Clerks, do contrary to any of the Articles afore rehearsed, that then they and every of them shall lose xx li. as often as they shall be found therein defective, and our said Sovereign Lord the King shall have the one Half of the said xx li. so forfeit, and such Person or Persons that will pursue, the other Half; And the same Suit shall be taken, holden, and determined by Action of Debt before the Barons of the said Exchequer, or else before the Justices of the Common Bench, against any Officers or Clerks of the said Exchequer, that doth or taketh contrary to the said Ordinance, any Privilege or Custom of the said Exchequer notwithstanding; and that the same Process be had in [this] Action before the said Justices, as is had in an Action of Debt (¹) upon an Obligation at the common Law; Except (²) that none Officer, which hath any Office in Inheritance, in Fee, [be excluded in the said Exchequer] to take the Fees, which of old Times were lawfully due and pertaining to his Office, and no more. Saving always, That the said Officers of our Sovereign Lord the King, and their Clerks, may take a reasonable Reward for their Searches and Copies made by them in the said Exchequer, of any Record, at the Suit of any of the King's liege People, notwithstanding the said Ordinance. Nevertheless the King would, that by Advice of his Council such Direction be taken in this Behalf, betwixt this Time and the Feast of St. Michael next ensuing, as shall seem reasonable; and otherwise the said Ordinance shall stand in his Strength for Term of Five Years.

ITEM, Our said Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the said Commons, and also by Authority of this Parliament, hath ordained and established, That no Person that in the County of Kent shall commonly brew any Ale or Beer to sell, shall make nor do to be made any Malt, in his House or in any other Place, to his own Use at his Costs and Expences, above an C. Quarters in the Year; upon Pain to forfeit x li. every Year in which he so maketh or doth to be made above the said Hundred Quarters, the one Half to our Sovereign Lord the King and the other Half to him or them which in this Behalf will pursue: And that the said Ordinance take Effect the First Day of June next coming, and shall endure for Five Years then next ensuing.

ITEM, Whereas it is shewed to our Sovereign Lord the King in his said Parliament, by the grievous Complaint of the Silk Women and [Spinners] of the Mystery and Occupation of Silk-working, within the City of London, how that divers Lombards and other Strangers, imagining to destroy the said Mystery, and all such virtuous Occupations [of] Women in the said Realm, to enrich themselves, and [to increase them and such Occupations in other strange Lands,] have brought and daily go about to bring into the said Realm, [such Silk so made, wrought, twined,] Ribbands, and [Chains] falsely and deceitfully wrought, [all manner Girdles and] other Things concerning the said Mystery and Occupation (³), in no Manner wise bringing any good Silk unwrought, as they were wont to bring

The Statute
15 H VI. c. 7.
recited;

And though the Common Law of England require that every Person [sued<sup>1</sup>] for any Cause, in which [Suit he ought to be admitted<sup>2</sup>] to wage his Law, that such Person so [sued<sup>1</sup>] should wage his Law by his Attorney having sufficient Authority thereunto; and, this notwithstanding, the Predecessors of the said now Abbot and other Abbots and Priors in the said [Counties,<sup>3</sup>] might in no wise be received by such Bailiffs, Stewards, and Officers, to wage their Law by their Attornies in such Courts and Wapentakes, till for [the same Grief<sup>4</sup>] and Complaint had in this Party by Authority of Parliament, It was (<sup>5</sup>) ordained that all Abbots and Priors, and other Religious of England, and their Successors, in such Cases by their general Attornies or Attorney in every Hundred or Wapentake within the Realm of England, every of them under their Common Seal, severally should plead in such Courts such Pleas as in the Law were pleadable and allowable; and that every Bailiff and Steward for the Time being within the said Courts should receive such Attornies, without amercing any such Abbots, Priors, and Religious, or any of them, upon Pain of Forfeiture of x li: Yet, this notwithstanding, when the said Abbot by his Attorney [should wage<sup>6</sup>] his Law in the said Plaints in such several Courts, then the said Bailiffs, Stewards, and Officers, oftentimes for their singular Lucre, and by Covin had betwixt them and the said malicious People affirming the said Plaints, have prefixed to the said Abbot [a<sup>7</sup>] Day to do his Law in every of the said several Courts and Wapentakes [together at one Day and at<sup>8</sup>] several Places, every Place being so far from other, that the said Abbot in no wise might appear and come to do his Law in his proper Person, as the Law requireth; and so he by such Cause in divers (<sup>9</sup>) Courts and Wapentakes was often in the said Plaints condemned, and in divers of the same amerced, some [Year<sup>10</sup>] in an Hundred Marks, and some [Year<sup>11</sup>] in more, and at the least in xl. li. where neither by Law nor by Conscience any Cause of Action was had; which Labours Costs and Vexations of likelihood should continue and increase, to the importable Damage of the said House, and of the Abbot and Convent aforesaid, unless some gracious Remedy in this Behalf be provided in this said Parliament for the said Monastery: Our said Sovereign Lord the King considering the Premises, by the Advice Assent and Authority aforesaid, hath granted, ordained, and established, That the same Abbot and his Successors, against whom any Quarrel or Plaint is or hereafter shall [be taken or attempted<sup>12</sup>] in any of the said Courts or Wapentakes, may wage their Law by their Attorney or Attornies of the Matters contained or to be contained in every such Plaint, where the Law permitteth them so to do. And that they, their Law so waged, may do [their Law<sup>13</sup>] by a [Monk<sup>14</sup>] of the same Place, with other Persons with him to the Number of Six Persons, or otherwise by some other Person assigned and deputed by the Abbot of the said House for the Time being, under the Common Seal of the said Monastery of Fontains, with Six Persons with him, to do the said Laws for the Abbot of the said House; And that the Bailiffs Stewards and Officers of the said Wapentakes and Courts for the Time being, shall admit, permit, and receive the said Laws to be done in the Form aforesaid; and that all the said Laws so waged and done be as effectual and of such Strength in the Law, as if the same Abbot or his Successors had done the same in their proper Persons after the Course of the Common Law (<sup>15</sup>)

The said Abbot and his Successors may wage their Law by Attorney;

and may do
their Law by

Lords and faithful liege People; by which [sinister'] Labour certain Acts Statutes and Ordinances, against all good Faith and Conscience, in the said Parliament were made, finally to destroy the said [lawful'] Lords, Estates, and liege People and their Issues, as well Innocents as other and their Heirs for ever; Which Parliament was unduly summoned, and a great Part of the Knights for divers Counties of this Realm and many Burgeesses and Citizens for divers Boroughs and Cities in the same appearing, were named, returned, and accepted, some of them without due and free Election, some of them without any Election, against the Course of the King's Laws and the Liberties of the Commons of this Realm, by the Means and Labours of the said seditious Persons; whereby many great Jeopardies, [Enormities,'] and Inconveniences, well nigh to the Ruin, [Decay,'] and universal Subversion of the said Realm, have ensued: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, and that the said Lords, Estates, and other His liege People, against whom the said Acts Statutes and Ordinances were made, have always had great and faithful Love to the Preferment and Surety (¹) of the King's Person, according to their Duty, and that few of the Acts [made²] in the said Parliament, holden at Coventry, were made for the Weal of the King nor of the said Realm, but the greater Part of the Acts Statutes and Ordinances therein made, were laboured by the Conspiracy Procurement and Excitation of the said evil disposed Persons, for the Introduction and Accomplishment of their Rancour and inordinate Covetise, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, [and at the Request of the said Commons, in the said Parliament assembled, and by the same Authority,'] hath ordained and established, That the said Parliament holden at the said City of Coventry be void, and holden for no Parliament. And that all Acts Statutes and Ordinances, by the Authority of the same made, be reversed, adnulled, [undone,³] repealed, revoked, voided, and of no Force nor Effect.

ITEM, by the Advice, Assent, and Authority aforesaid, It is ordained and established, That Women being of the age of xiii. Years, at the Time of the Death of their Ancestors, without Question or Difficulty shall have Livery of their Lands and Tenements descended to them; For so the Law of this Land will that (⁴) they should have.

And that the Mayor of the said City for the Time being, have [sufficient Power and] Authority to assign Two, Three, or Four sufficient and credible Men of the same City by his Discretion, to be sworn upon a Book, to make due Search within the same City and the Liberty thereof, as often as to them shall seem expedient, of all Things had or done contrary to the Premises; and they to make due relation to the Mayor and Aldermen of the said City for the Time being, for more plain Information in this Behalf to [our said Sovereign Lord] the King, and to those Persons which will sue for the same. And that this [said] Ordinance abide and be in his Force, and take Effect [at'] the Feast of Saint Peter called ad vincula, next coming; and [this Ordinance] shall endure till the End of Five Years then next ensuing.

ITEM, Whereas in the said Parliament, by the Artificers [of manual Occupations,'] Men and Women, [inhabiting and resident] in the City of London, and other Cities, Towns, Boroughs, and Villages within this Realm [of England] and Wales, it hath been pitiously shewed and complained, how that they all in general, and every of them, be greatly impoverished, and much hindered and prejudiced of their worldly Increase, and daily Living, by the great Multitude of divers [Commodities'] and Wares pertaining to their Mysteries and Occupations, being fully wrought, and ready made to Sale, as well by the Hands of Strangers being the King's Enemies as other, [in'] this Realm, and Wales, [fetched and] brought from beyond the Sea, as well by Merchants Strangers as Denizens and other Persons, whereof the greatest Part in Substance is deceitful, and nothing worth in Regard of any Man's Occupation or Profit; [by which Occasion'] the said Artificers cannot live by their Mysteries and Occupations, as they have done in Times past, but divers of them, as well Householders as [Hirelings,'] and other Servants and Apprentices in great Number, be at this Day unoccupied, and do hardly live, in great [Misery,'] Poverty, and [Need,'] whereby many Inconveniences have grown before this Time, and hereafter more be like to come, which God defend, if [due] Remedy be not in this Behalf provided: Our said [redoubted] Sovereign Lord the King considering the Premises, [and willing in this Case to provide Remedy,] by the Advice, Assent, and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained enacted and established,

ITEM, Prayen the Commons in the said Parliament assembled, to our said Sovereign Lord the King, to [re- duce] to his [gracious] Remembrance, that in the Times of his noble Progenitors divers Ordinances and Statutes were made in this Realm [of England] for the Ap- parel and Array of the Commons of the same [Realm,] as well of Men as of Women, so that none of them [ought to] use nor wear any inordinate [and excessive] Apparel, but only according to their Degrees; which Statutes and Ordinances notwithstanding, for Default of Punishment and putting them in due Execution, the Commons of the said Realm, as well Men as Women, have worn and daily do wear excessive and inordinate Array [and Apparel,] to the great Displeasure of God, and impoverishing of this Realm [of England] and to the enriching of [other] strange Realms and Countries, to the final Destruction of the Husbandry of this said Realm: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords, [and at the special Request] of the said Commons assembled in the said Parliament, and by Authority of the same, hath ordained and established, That no Knight under the Estate of a Lord, other than Lords' Children, nor no Wife of (') such Knight, from the Feast of the Purification of our Lady, which shall be in the Year of our Lord God One thousand four hundred sixty-five, shall wear any manner Cloth of Gold, or any Corsees wrought with Gold, or any Furr of Sables; and if any such Knight do the contrary, or suffer his Wife or Child, the same Child being under his Rule or Governance, to do the contrary, that then he shall forfeit for every such Default xx li. to the King. And also (') that no Bachelor Knight, nor his Wife, from the said Feast, shall wear any Cloth of Velvet upon Velvet, but such Knights which be of the Order of the Garter, and their Wives, upon Pain to forfeit to the King [the King's Use] for every [such] Default Twenty Marks. And also (') that no Person under the State of a Lord, from the said Feast, wear any manner Cloth of Silk, being of the Colour of Purple; upon Pain to forfeit to the King for every Default x li. And also (') that no Esquire nor Gentleman, nor none other under the Degree of a Knight, nor none of their Wives, except the Sons of Lords and their Wives, and the Daughters of Lords, Esquires for the King's Body, and their Wives, [shall] wear from the said Feast any Velvet, Satin [branched,] nor any counterfeit Cloth of Silk resem- bling to the same, or any Corsees wrought like to Velvet or to Satin [branched,] or any Furr of Ermine; upon Pain to forfeit for every Default Ten Marks to the King [the King's Use.] And also (') that no Esquire nor Gentleman, nor none other (') under the Degrees above rehearsed, [shall] wear, from the said Feast, any Damask or Satin, except [the menial Esquires,] Sergeants, Officers of the King's House, Yeomen of the Crown, Yeomen of the King's Chamber, and Esquires and Gentlemen having Possessions to the yearly Value of xli. and their Wives and Widows having like Possessions, and the Daughters unmarried of Persons having Possessions to the Value of a Hundred Pounds by Year; upon Pain to forfeit to the King for every Default a Hundred Shillings. ## IN THE FOURTH YEAR.

O<sup>UR</sup> Lord King Edward the Fourth after the Conquest, at his Parliament summoned at Westminster the Nine-and-twentieth Day of April, in the Third Year of his Reign, and by divers Prorogations and Adjournments continued till the One-and-twentieth Day of January, in the Fourth Year of his Reign, on the same One-and-twentieth Day of January, to the Reverence of God, and for the Wealth of him and his People, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of his Commons being in the said Parliament, [hath ''] ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances in Form following. First, Whereas many Years past, and now at this Day, the Workmanship of Cloth, and Things requisite to the same, is and hath been of such Fraud, Deceit, and Falsity, that the said Cloths in other Lands and Countries be [had in small ''] Reputation, to the great Shame of this Land; and by reason thereof a great Quantity of Cloths of other strange Lands be brought into this Realm, and there sold at an high and excessive Price, evidently shewing the Offence, Default, and Falshood of the making of Woollen Cloths of this Land: Our said Lord the King, for the Remedy of the Premises, and to the Preferment of such Labours and Occupations, which have been used by the making of the said Cloths, by the Advice, Assent, Request, and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances in Manner and Form ensuing.

FIRST, (') That every whole Woollen Cloth, called Broad Cloth, which shall be made and set to Sale after the Feast called Saint Peter ad vincula, which shall be in the Year of our Lord M.CCCC.LXV. after the full [watering ''] racking, straining or tenturing of the same ready to Sale, shall hold and contain in Length xxiv. Yards, and to every Yard an Inch, containing the Breadth of a Man's Thumb, to be measured by the Crest of the same Cloth, and in Breadth ij Yards, or vij Quarters at the least, within the Lists; And if the said Cloth be longer in Measure than the said xxiv. Yards, and the Inches, then the Buyer thereof shall pay to the Seller for as much as doth exceed such Measure of xxiv. Yards, according to the Rate of the Measure above ordained. [And it is enacted ''] and established by the Authority aforesaid, That all manner of Cloths called Streits, to be made and put to Sale after the same Feast, after the full [watering ''] racking, straining or tenturing thereof, ready to Sale, shall hold and contain in Length xij Yards and the Inches, according to the Measure aforesaid, and in Breadth one Yard within the Lists.

Also It is ordained and established by the Authority aforesaid, That every Cloth called Kersey, to be made and put to Sale after the said Feast, after the full [watering,'] racking, straining, or tenturing of the same ready to Sale, shall hold and contain in Length xvij Yards and the Inches as is afore said, and in Breadth one Yard and a Nail, or at the least one Yard, within the Lists. Also It is ordained and established by the Authority aforesaid, That every half Cloth of every of the said whole Cloths, Streits, and Kerseys, shall keep his Measure in Length and Breadth according to the Rate (¹) Form and Nature of his whole Cloth aforesaid. And that no Person which shall make, or cause to be made, any Woollen Cloth to sell after the said Feasts, shall mingle, or put in or upon the same Cloth, nor (¹) the Wool whereof the said Cloth shall be made, any Lambs Wool, Flocks, (¹) or Cork in any manner, upon Pain to forfeit xx s. for every Cloth or Half Cloth, wherein or whereupon any such Lambs Wool, Flocks, (¹) or Cork, shall be put or mingled; the one Half thereof to be to the King, and the other Half to him that will seise the same Cloth, and duly prove the same to be made contrary to this Ordinance; [but¹] it shall be lawful [for him¹] to make Cloth of Lambs Wool by itself, without [mingling¹] with any other Wool; except also that Cork may be used in dying upon woaded Wool, and also in dying of all such Cloth that is only made of woaded Wool, so that the same Wool and Cloth be perfectly boiled and madered; except also, that Cork may be put upon Cloth which is perfectly boiled and madered. Also it is ordained and [enacted,²] That every of the said Cloths and Half Cloths shall perfectly and rightly pursue and follow one Order of Workmanship from one End to the other, without Difference in [the weaving,³] fulling, knotting, or burling; and in case any such Difference, or Raw, Skaw, Cokel or Fagge happen to be in any Part of the said Cloths Streits or Kerseys, that then a Seal of Lead therefore ordained, and by the Treasurer of England for the Time being [provided,⁴] shall be set and hanged in the [lowest⁵] Part of the Edge of the same Cloth Streit or Kersey, for [perfect Knowledge⁶] to be had to the Buyer thereof; And that every of the said Cloths, Streit and Kersey, of the Length and Breadth aforesaid, and also of the said Perfection, shall be from the Feast of Saint Peter ad vincula sealed at the End of the same with a double Print in Lead, (⁷) devised and ordained by the said Treasurer, in Testimony and Witness of the foresaid true Length, Breadth, and [Making⁸]. And if any of the foresaid Cloths, Streits or Kerseys, do not contain the foresaid Breadth and Length, or be not of the perfect Workmanship aforesaid, and the Two Parts of the same Cloths, Streits or Kerseys, be of the true and perfect Workmanship aforesaid, keeping their said Length and Breadth, that then every such Cloth, Streit and Kersey shall be sealed with the said Seals in the Form aforesaid. And that every Half-Cloth (⁹) containing greater Length than the Half-Cloth, and less Length than the whole Cloth, of the Sorts of the Cloths aforesaid, being of the same perfect Workmanship and Breadth, shall be sealed with a Seal [printed¹⁰] in Lead, having a Mark differing from both the Seals aforesaid, in Testimony and Witness of the true Length, Breadth, and [making¹¹] of [the¹²] Half-Cloth:

ITEM, The [Company of the Mystery'] of Patten-Makers of the City of London, piteously complaining, shewed in the Parliament, of the grievous Hurts, Losses, and Damages, which other Persons in Times past of the same [Occupation'] now dead, and they, long Time have borne and sustained, and [hereafter be likely'] to bear and sustain, by reason of a Statute made in the Time of Henry the Fifth, late King of England in Deed [and'] not of Right, by Authority of [this'] Parliament holden in the Fourth Year of his Reign; by which Statute it was ordained and established, That the Patten-makers within the Realm of England from that Time forth, should make no Pattens nor Clogs of the Timber called Asp, upon Pain to pay to the King C. s. [for every Defaulk']; and that every Person, which would sue for the King should have the one Half of the Pain so forfeit; so that the Fletchers throughout the Realm, might sell their [Shafts'] at more easy and reasonable Price than they were wont to sell; as in the said Statute more fully is contained: And though also that the said Asp Timber be the best and lightest Timber, thereof to make Pattens and Clogs, and most easy for the wearing of all Estates, Gentiles, and other People, of any Timber that groweth; and before the making of the said Statute the said Patten-makers were as free, and at as great Liberty to buy all manner of Asp Timber, and thereof to make Pattens and Clogs, as [they were at the same Time,'] and at all Times have been, and yet be all manner People of the Crafts and Occupations of Turners, Carpenters, Woodmongers, and Cole-makers, which do occupy, expend, and waste yearly in their Occupations a great Quantity of all manner Timber of Asp, as well such Asp Timber as would serve to make [Shafts'] thereof, as that that would not serve for the same, and no Restraint is made for them or any of them to the contrary; and very much Asp Timber there is, which will in no wise serve the Fletchers to make thereof [Shafts,'] which is as sufficient, able, and convenient to be made in Pattens and Clogs, as is the Remnant of the said Timber to be made in [Shafts']; and the said Patten-makers durst not occupy any Part of the said Timber, nor one nor other, for Fear of Forfeiture of the said Pain contained in the said Statute, which is great Damage to the said Patten-makers, and none Advantage to the said Fletchers, and the common People throughout the Realm thereby greatly [diseased']: Wherefore our Sovereign Lord the King considering the Premises, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the said Commons, (") hath ordained that from henceforth at all Times it shall be lawful to the Patten Makers of this Realm, to make Pattens of such (") Timber of Asp, that is not apt, sufficient, nor convenient to be made into [Shafts,'] and that for the common Weal; And that as often as any Patten-maker, after the Feast of Easter, which shall be in the Year of our Lord God M.CCCC.LXV. shall make any Pattens or Clogs of such Part of Asp Timber, which shall be able and sufficient to be made into [Shafts,'] he shall forfeit for every Time Forty Shillings, the one Half thereof to the King, and the other Half to him that will sue in this Behalf.

ITEM, Whereas the noble King Edward the Third, Progenitor of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, after the Conquest of the Town of Calais, in his Parliament holden in the Ninth Year of his Reign, in Relief and Comfort of the Town of Dover, one of the Towns of the Five Ports in the County of Kent, did ordain that no Merchant, Pilgrim, nor none other Person or Persons, Horse or Beast, should take any Passage towards the Town of Calais, from any Port or Place within the County of Kent, but only from the Port of the said Town of Dover; and also that no Merchant, Pilgrim, nor none other Person or Persons, Horse or Beast, should come from Calais into any Port in Kent, but only to the said Port of the Town of Dover, except Soldiers and Merchants coming and going with their Ships freighted with Merchandises, unless it were by the King's Commandment, or otherwise that they were driven or compelled to take some other Place or Port by Tempest: Also it was ordained and established by the Authority of another Parliament holden in the xij Year of [the noble] King Richard the Second, [after the Conquest,] That all Passage should be kept at the said Town of Dover in the Manner and Form before rehearsed, and in none other Place within the said County of Kent; [as there hath been used and accustomed by reason of the Premises, till now late, that'] notwithstanding, divers Pilgrims, Merchants, and other Persons, which be no Soldiers, with Horses and other Beasts, of late Time have used commonly to take their Passage towards the said Town of Calais, at divers Places and Ports in the same County of Kent; and to come from Calais into Kent at divers Ports and Places in the same, other than in the said Port of Dover, contrary to the Grants and Ordinances aforesaid, to the great Damage, Impoverishment, and Desolation of the same Town, and likely by Continuance to be the Cause of Jeopardy or Loss of the same Town, the Castle (') and the Country adjoining: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, the Premises considered, and how the said Town is set in the uttermost Part of this Realm next to his Enemies, and hath no mean of Comfort nor Relief, but only by mean of the said Passage, hath ordained established and enacted, by the Advice Assent and Authority aforesaid, That no Pilgrim, Merchant, nor none other Person or Persons, Horse or Beast, except Soldiers and Merchants with their Merchandises, in the Manner and Form before recited, shall from henceforth take their Passage at none other Place or Port within the said County of Kent, but only at the said Port [or'] Town of Dover, if they may there have sufficient Passage and Shipping: And also that no Pilgrim, Merchant, nor none other Person or Persons, Horse or Beast, shall come from Calais [to'] any Port or other Place within the said County of Kent, but only to the said Port of the said Town of Dover, except Soldiers and Merchants with their Merchandises, unless they have and shew the King's Commandment in Writing so to do, or else be compelled and driven to some other Place or Port by sudden Tempest: And that every Person, of what Estate, Degree, or Condition he be, which voluntarily doth [against'] this Act or Ordinance, shall forfeit for every Time that he so doth, Five Marks; Our Sovereign Lord the King to have the one Half, to be employed upon the Reparation of the Castle of Dover,

IN THE SEVENTH YEAR.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Third Day of June, the Seventh Year of the Reign of King Edward the Fourth, after the Conquest, Our said Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of his Commons, in the said Parliament assembled, and by Authority of the same Parliament, hath ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances in Manner and Form following.

Deceits
practised in making Worstedes
in Norwich and Norfolk.

FIRST, Whereas there be as well within the City of Norwich, as elsewhere within the County of Norfolk, divers Persons which do make untrue Wares of all Manner of Worstedes, not being of the Assises in Length nor in Breadth, nor of good Stuff and right making as they ought to be, and of old Time were accustomed, and the Sleyes and Yarn pertaining to the same [not well<sup>1</sup>] made and wrought, in great Deceit as well of Denizens as of Strangers inhabiting or repairing into this Realm, which have used and do use to buy such Merchandises, trusting that they were within as they seemed without, where indeed it is contrary;

Moreover, for the full Reformation of the Deceits and Falshood above rehearsed, by Authority aforesaid, It is ordained and enacted, That the said Eight Wardens, the said Monday next after Corpus Christi yearly, incontinently after their Charge above recited before the said Mayor and Steward, or One of them ( <sup>1</sup> ) shall assign incontinently a certain Place, or Two, within the said City, and certain Days [by the Week, <sup>2</sup>] and another certain Place, or Two, or more, if they think it necessary, in the said County of Norfolk, and certain Days [by the Week, <sup>3</sup>] for the Year then next following, to the Intent that every Piece of Worsted, which in the same Year shall be [set <sup>4</sup>] to Sale, shall be brought before the Wardens of the said Craft for the Time being, [to <sup>5</sup>] One of the said Places so by them assigned, to the Intent that as well the Artificers of Worsteds, [and <sup>6</sup>] the said Wardens, may certainly know the Place where the said Worsteds may duly and rightfully be searched. And if the said Wardens find the said Worsteds by their Search well and lawfully made, that then such a Mark or Token shall be set by the said Wardens, or by One of them, without Fine or Fee, upon the same, so that all Buyers may well know [which Piece is <sup>7</sup>] sufficiently and rightfully searched and wrought; and that the said Search shall extend as well to the Stuff of the same, as to the sufficient making: And such as they shall find defective, that the Mayor of the said City, and Steward of the said Duchy, or One of them for the time being, by the Assent of the said Wardens and Twelve Artificers, shall have Power by this Act to [set <sup>8</sup>] therein such Correction as to them shall seem reasonable; and for every Piece of Worsted sold, not marked after the Form aforesaid, That the first Seller thereof shall forfeit the Price of the Piece so by him sold, to our said Lord the King; and that all Ordinances, Acts, and Grants made or to be made in Prejudice, or contrary to the Premises concerning Worsteds, be void and of none Effect: And that all Mayors, Sheriffs, and Bailiffs, and all other Officers, shall be attending, aiding, and supporting to the said Wardens in their Searches, as often as they or any of them shall be by the said Wardens, or any of them, reasonably required.

ITEM, It was shewed to our said Lord the King in the said Parliament, by the Inhabitants and Residents of the Hundreds of Lynton, Tavistock, and Rowburgh, within the County of Devon, That Whereas in the last Parliament begun at Westminster the Nine-and-twentieth Day of April, the Third Year of his Reign, and by divers Prorogations and Adjournments continued till the xxj of January, in the Fourth Year of his Reign, amongst other Things It was ordained by Authority of the same Parliament, That no Person which should make ( <sup>9</sup> ) any Woolen Cloth to sell, from the Feast called Saint Peter ad vincula then next following, should put in or upon the same Cloth, nor [in <sup>10</sup>] the Wool whereof the said Cloth [shall <sup>11</sup>] be made, any Flocks in any wise, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Cloth, wherein any ( <sup>12</sup> ) Flocks should be put or mixt, as by the said Ordinance more plainly appeareth; by which Ordinance thesaid Inhabitants being within the said Hundreds, were likely to be undone, for that they have continually used, from the Time whereof is no Memory, to mix and put Flocks [in <sup>13</sup>] the Cloth made there, of the Wool growing within the same Hundreds, without

Anno 8° EDWARDI, IV. A.D.1468.

IN THE EIGHTH YEAR.

OUR Lord the King, Edward the Fourth after the Conquest, at his Parliament [holden<sup>1</sup>] at Westminster, the Third Day of June, the Seventh Year of his Reign, and by divers Prorogations and Adjournments continued till the Twelfth Day of May, the Eighth Year of his Reign; the same Twelfth Day, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the Commons, in the said Parliament assembled, hath [made<sup>2</sup>] ordained, and established divers Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following.

Deficiencies in making of Broad set Cloths and Streit set Cloths, in Norfolk,
Suffolk,
and Essex;

FIRST, Because it was shewed in the said Parliament, by the Commons there being, concerning the Clothmakers and Inhabitants within the [County<sup>3</sup>] of Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex, That Whereas ('<sup>4</sup>) long Time past there hath been [a good common Usage<sup>5</sup>] within the same Counties, by the Clothmakers there, that divers Woolen Cloths ('<sup>6</sup>) called Broad Set Cloths, and other called Streit set Cloths, that is to say, the said Broad Set Cloths, every Cloth to contain, after [their<sup>7</sup>] sufficient Workmanship thereto required, ready to Sale, xxviij Yards and xxviij Inches in Length by the Crest, and in Breadth Seven Quarters within the Lists, directly from one End of the Cloth to the other End of the same; and every Cloth of the said Broad Set Cloths so made ready to Sale to weigh xxxviij. Pound at the least or more; And the said Cloths called Streit Set Cloths to contain, after [their<sup>7</sup>] sufficient and rightful Workmanship thereto required ready to Sale, in Length xiiij Yards and xiiij Inches measured by the List, and in Breadth iij Quarters and di. Quarter of a Yard within the Lists directly from one End to the other; and every Cloth of the said Streit Set Cloths so made ready for Sale, to weigh ix li. and di. at the least or more; Whereby the said Clothmakers and Inhabitants in the said Counties did greatly prosper, and had great Profit and good Utterance of the said Cloths and the King greatly increased in his Customs ('<sup>8</sup>) [till<sup>9</sup>] now of late many and divers of the Inhabitants and Clothmakers within the said Counties, by subtil Imagination, [Craft, and Collusion did and now do make<sup>10</sup>] Cloths there, naming some of them Broad Set Cloths, and some of them Streit Set Cloths; the which so named Broad Set Cloths, the Cloth passeth not the Length of xxvj Yards, and some less, and in Breadth no more but Six Quarters and some less, and in Weight not above xxviij Pounds and some less; and the said Cloths called Streit Set Cloths, ('<sup>11</sup>) the Cloth passeth not the Length of xij. Yards, and some less, and ('<sup>12</sup>) in Breadth but Half a Yard and Half a Quarter of a Yard, and some less, and in Weight not over Seven Pounds, and some less: By reason of which Deceits, as well in the

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the Sixth Day of October, in the Twelfth Year of the Reign of King Edward, the Fourth after the Conquest; Our said Sovereign Lord the King, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of him and of his Realm, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of his Commons, in the same Parliament assembled, and by Authority of the same Parliament, hath [ordained, made,<sup>1</sup>] and established certain Statutes and Ordinances in Form following.

FIRST, Whereas by a Statute made at Westminster in the Twenty-third Year of the Reign of King Henry, late in Deed and not of Right King of England, called King Henry the Sixth (<sup>2</sup>) It was ordained, That no Sheriff should occupy his Office of Sheriff above a Year, upon Pain of Two Hundred Pounds, except certain Persons in the said Statute excepted; as in the same is more plainly specified; divers and many of the King's liege People have been grievously indamaged, and greatly delayed of their Suits and Proceses every Year, in the Term called Michaelmas Term, as for their Actions, Writs, and Precepts to be returned within the same Term, after the Sixth Day of the Month of November, [because that<sup>3</sup>] the King's Letters Patents whereby any (<sup>4</sup>) Sheriff is made, do most commonly bear Date the Sixth Day of November; and [though it so be<sup>5</sup>] that new Sheriffs be yearly chosen the Morrow after the Feast Day of All Soules, of which new Sheriffs so chosen and appointed, divers of them have refused, and divers of them have not had their Patents, nor taken their Oath, until long Time after the End of the said Michaelmas Term; by reason whereof divers of the King's liege People and Subjects be greatly indamaged and delayed of their Suits, Proceses, and Precepts, which should be returnable in the King's Courts at the Days of Return within the same Term, after the Sixth Day of November; that is to say, at the Days of Return called Crastino Martini, Octabis Martini, and Quindena Martini, because that the old Sheriffs durst not, nor would not take upon them to return any Writ or Precept after the Year * Parliament was continued by divers Prorogations and Adjournments, from 6 October 12 Edw. IV. A. D. 1472. to 14 March 15 Edw. IV. A. D. 1474-5. The Petitions, on which this Statute 12 Edw. IV. was framed, are entered in English on Memb. 7. of the Parliament-Roll 14 Edw. IV. m. 45. to m. 53.

† The French Text of these Statutes from hence to the End of 22 Edw. IV. was not inserted in any Printed Collection of the Statutes at Large after Pynson's [circ. 1497], until Cay's [1758]: In that, and subsequent Printed Copies, the French Text of all those Statutes is stated to be taken from MS. Cott. Nero C. I.; but, on examination, that Manuscript appears incorrect in many particulars in which it is printed, as correct, by Cay and subsequent Editors. A more perfect Copy is found in the Petyt Manuscript No. 8. in the Inner Temple Library. The Corrections in the Notes are from both these Manuscripts; and, in their default, from the Old Printed Copies; of which the earliest by Maclinia [circ. 1482] is, in the Statutes of these Years, much the most accurate.

that his Patent did bear Date, for Fear of the Penalty contained in the aforesaid Statute, to the great Loss, as well to the King of that which should grow to him by reason of the said [Process<sup>1</sup>] as to his liege People, by Delays which they thereby sustain; It is ordained by Authority of the foresaid Parliament, That if any Sheriff of any County do execute or return any Writ, Precept, or Warrant in any of the Courts of the King, within the said Term called Michaelmas Term, after the Sixth Day of November, and before any Writ of Discharge delivered to him of his [occupying<sup>2</sup>] of Sheriffwick, he shall not be damnified by Force of the said Statute, nor charged of the Penalty aforesaid, although that he hath occupied the Office of Sheriff [after any<sup>3</sup>] of the said Days of Return called Crastino Martini, Octabis Martini, or Quindena Martini.

ITEM, Because that our Sovereign Lord the King, by a Petition delivered to him in the said Parliament, by the Commons of the same, hath perceived that great Scarcity of Bow-staves is now in this (4) Realm, and the Bow-staves that be in the (5) Realm be sold at an excessive Price, whereby the Exercise of Archery is greatly discontinued, and almost lost; Our said Lord the King considering the Premises, by the Advice, Assent, and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained and established (6) That every Merchant Stranger, and every or any of their Factors, Attornies, or Servants, which at any Time after the Feast of Saint Michael the Archangel next coming, shall bring, send, or convey into this Land any Merchandise in Carrack, Galley, or Ship [of<sup>7</sup>] the City or Country of Venice, or [of<sup>8</sup>] other City, Town, or Country, from whence any such Bow-staves have been before this Time brought, sent, or conveyed into this Land, at every Time of their bringing, sending, or conveying of any such Merchandises into this Realm, shall bring, send, or convey into this Realm, with the said Merchandises, in the same Carrack, Galley, or Ship, wherein any such Merchandises shall be hereafter brought, sent, or conveyed, for every [Tun Weight<sup>9</sup>] of such Merchandises which hereafter shall be contained in every Carrack, Galley, or Ship, Four Bow-staves, upon Pain of Forfeiture to the King for every Default of bringing of every such Bow-staff, vjs. viij d. And also the said Bow-staves so brought, sent, or conveyed by the said Merchants, their Factors Attornies or Servants, into this Realm, shall be searched and surveyed by the Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or chief Governors of such Cities or Towns within this Realm, where any such Carrack, Galley, or Ship shall hereafter come to safe Port; and the said Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or chief Governors shall assign Two Men most expert, to search the said Staves, and the said Two Men to be sworn by the said Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or chief Governors, (10) that they shall truly and indifferently mark the said Staves that be not good nor sufficient, according to the Manner as such Staves in Times past were wont to be marked, to the Intent that all the King's liege People may have Knowledge of them without Fraud.

so that our Sovereign Lord the King may be truly answered of his Duty in this Behalf, without any Fraud or Deceit. And if any Customer or Comptroller of any Port or Place be negligent or slack in unpacking of the said Cloths, or surveying of them in the Form aforesaid, that then and so often every such Customer and Comptroller for every such Default shall forfeit to our Sovereign Lord the King Twenty Shillings for every such Cloth. Moreover It is ordained by the Advice [and Assent<sup>1</sup>] aforesaid, That every of the said Collectors receiving any Custom or Subsidy for any of the said Cloths or Surety for the same, shall be thereof charged and chargeable to our Sovereign Lord the King upon his or their Account; And that the same Collector or Collectors shall from Time to Time make a Cocket or Cockets of all such Cloths, directed to the Collectors of the Port where the same Cloths shall be shipped, witnessing their Number, and that he or they have received the Customs and Subsidies of the same Cloths, or Surety for the same; by which Cocket or Cockets the said Collectors [or the Receivers of them,]<sup>2</sup> shall be [thereof<sup>3</sup>] discharged against our Sovereign Lord the King, and all other, of all the same Customs and Subsidies. Provided always, that this Act and Ordinance be not prejudicial nor in any wise hurtful to any Person or Persons in (<sup>4</sup>) or for any Letters Patents made by the King our Sovereign Lord of any Grant of Licence to ship and carry out of this Realm of England any Woollen Cloths or other Merchandizes specified in any of the said Letters Patents, (<sup>5</sup>) to retain the Customs and Subsidies (<sup>6</sup>) in their own Hands, or in the Hands of any of them. And that the same Letters Patents be to the same Person or Persons and every of them good and effectual, after the Tenor of the same Letters Patents and every of them, this Act and Ordinance notwithstanding; by whatsoever Name or Names any of the said Person or Persons be named or called in any of the said Letters Patents.

ITEM, Our said Sovereign Lord the King, considering that Princes the first begotten Sons to the Kings of England, have been at their Liberties to give their Livery and Signs at their Pleasure, and that divers Statutes against Givers [and Takers<sup>7</sup>] of Liveries and Signs, as well in the Time of his noble Reign, as in the Time of his Progenitors and Predecessors have been made; and that by force of [any<sup>8</sup>] of the said Statutes his dear beloved first begotten Son Edward Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, and Earl of Chester, is as well as any other Person restrained of giving such Liveries and Signs: Our Sovereign Lord the King, (<sup>9</sup>) willing that his said first begotten Son the Prince be at his Liberty, in [receiving<sup>10</sup>] any Person and giving his Signs and Liveries, in as large Form as any Prince first begotten Son of any of his noble Progenitors or Predecessors in Times past hath been, [hath<sup>11</sup>] ordained and established by Authority of the said Parliament, That the said Prince shall be at his Liberty to retain and to give his honourable Livery and Sign at his Pleasure.

were necessarily redressed, reformed, and amended; Now so it is, that now of late in divers Parts of this Realm of England, as well in the Counties of Kent and Sussex, as in other Places within the same Realm of England, and also within the Bounds of the Marches of Calais, Guynes, and Hames, by [rising<sup>1</sup>] of Water, divers Lands and Tenements in great Quantity be [drowned<sup>2</sup>] and destroyed; and [many great<sup>3</sup>] Mischiefs (<sup>4</sup>) be very likely within short Time to fall, as well in the Decrease [of the Sustenance and<sup>5</sup>] Live-lyhood of Holy Church, as of other the King's liege People of his said Realm of England, and of the said Marches, and utter undoing of them, if Remedy in this Behalf be not the more speedily provided: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the said Commons, and by Authority of the said Parliament, hath ordained enacted and established, That for fifteen Years next ensuing, several Commissions of Sewers shall be made to divers Persons, by the Chancellor of England for the Time being to be named, in all Parts of this Realm of England, and of the aforesaid Marches, where Need is or shall be, after the Form and Effect of the said Commission contained in the said Act made the said Sixth Year. And moreover he hath ordained and established by the same Authority, that all such Commissioners have full Power to make ordain and execute Statutes and Ordinances and other Things [to be done<sup>6</sup>] after the Effect and Purport of the same Commissions.

ITEM, Whereas by the laudable Statute of Magna Carta, amongst other Things it is contained, That all Kedels by Thameise and Medway, and throughout the Realm of England, should be [taking away, saving by the Sea Banks,<sup>7</sup>] which Statute was made for the great Wealth of all this Land, in avoiding the Straitness of all Rivers, so that Ships and Boats might have in them their large and free Passage, and also in [Safeguard<sup>8</sup>] of all the Fry of Fish spawned within the same; upon which Magna Carta, [the great Sentence and apostololic Curse<sup>9</sup>] by a great Number of Bishops was pronounced against the Breakers of the same, and the same Sentence is Four Times in the Year openly declared, according to the Law of Holy Church; and in Affirmance of the said Statute of the Great Charter, divers Statutes have been [after<sup>10</sup>] made and ordained; amongst which, in a Parliament holden in the First Year of the usurped Reign of King Henry the Fourth, it was recited, That in the Twenty-fifth Year of King Edward the Third, Progenitor of our Lord the King that now is, because that the common Passages of Ships and Boats in the great Rivers of England were oftentimes disturbed by levying of Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, and Kedels, to the great Damage of the People, It was ordained and established, That all such Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, and Kedels, which were levied and set up in the Time of King Edward, Son of King Henry, and after, in such Rivers, whereby the Ships and Boats were disturbed that they could not pass as they were wont, should be taken away, and (<sup>11</sup>) broken down,

And if any such Annoyances of Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, and Kedels, in [ letting <sup>14</sup> ] of the Passages and [ straiting <sup>15</sup> ] in old Time made and levied, be judged or considered by the said Justices to be broken down or amended, he that hath the Freehold of the same shall do Execution thereof at his own Costs, within Half a Year after [ Knowledge given to him, <sup>16</sup> ]

Sovereign Lord the King, at his Second Passage towards the Parts of Normandy, and by his Council, Our said Sovereign Lord considering the great Troubles and Damages, which divers of his liege People have had and sustained by the same cessing, hath straitly commanded and commandeth, That his Justices shall hold the Assises through all this Realm of England in the Manner used and accustomed. And for to eschew the Dishonours of the same Persons, which now be passed and shall pass in this Voyage Royal of the King, whom God speed, and also of the Persons which be abiding in the Service of our Sovereign Lord the King in the Parts of Normandy and of France, It is ordained and provided, That in every Protection, with the Clause of Volumus to be made for every of the same Persons, in the Clause of the Exception contained in the same, Omission shall be made of these Words, Assise nove disseisine; and that all such Protections be allowable for them, and every of them, in all the Courts of our Sovereign Lord the King and elsewhere where such Protection is set forth for any such Person, in all Pleas of Assise, as well of Novel Disseisin as of Fresh Force, without any Difficulty. Provided always, That the Judgements to be given from henceforth in such Assises, arraigned or to be arraigned, shall not be prejudicial to any of the said Persons so abiding in the King's noble Service beyond the Sea, as afore is said, which have any Thing in Reversion or in Remainder in such Lands or Tenements, whereof such Assises be or shall be arraigned, if they that have in Reversion or Remainder in such Lands and Tenements be not named in the same Assises, but that they be against them all void. And this Ordinance shall endure till the Parliament, which shall be first holden after the next Return of our Sovereign Lord the King into this Realm of England. And if this Ordinance, touching the said Persons so abiding in the King's Service beyond the Sea, and also touching the said Persons which have passed and shall pass in the said Voyage, be not sufficient for the Ease and Surety of them, It is accorded and assented, That the Lords of the King's Council for the Time being, shall have full Power by Authority of this Parliament, to set, ordain, and provide sufficient Remedy for the Ease and Surety of all the said Persons, as for them and every of them to the said Lords shall seem available and expedient in the Case, according to their good Advice and Discretions: Our Sovereign Lord the King will and hath ordained, enacted, and established, by [the Advice and Assent of] the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by Authority of the same, That the same Order and the same Law comprised in the said Statute and Ordinance, shall be now observed and kept, and shall be as available for all Manner of Persons, which now shall pass over the Sea with our Sovereign Lord the King in this (1) Voyage Royal, and there shall abide in his said noble Service, as they were for such Persons, which did pass over the Sea with the said late King, and there did abide in his (2) noble Service.

The same Law shall be of avail for such as now shall pass over the Sea with the King.

Incipiunt Statuta apud Westm' edita, Anno decimo septimo.

HERE BEGIN THE STATUTES MADE AT WESTMINSTER, IN THE SEVENTEENTH YEAR.

OUR Lord King Edward, the Fourth after the Conquest, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, the Sixteenth Day of January, in the Seventeenth Year of his Reign, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of him and his Realm, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Instance and Request of the Commons, in the said Parliament assembled, and by Authority of the same Parliament, hath made to be ordained and established divers Ordinances and Statutes in Form following.

I.
Recital of
St. 9 Ed. III.
et. 2. c. 2;

2 H. IV. c. 6.

FIRST, Whereas in a Statute made the Ninth Year of King Edward the Third, noble Progenitor to our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, It was ordained, That no false Money counterfeit to the Sterling, should be brought into this Realm, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Money; Saving that all manner of People of every Realm might bring to the Exchange as Bullion, all manner good Money of Silver, of whatsoever Value it were, and there to receive covenable Exchange: And Whereas in the Second Year of the pretended Reign of King Henry the Fourth, for the great Deceit which then was in the Money of Gold and Silver in Flanders and Scotland, [which commonly did run, and Payments made<sup>1</sup>] in divers Parts of this Realm of England, to the great Damage of our Sovereign Lord the King, and of his People, amongst other it was ordained, That all the Money of Gold and Silver of the Coin of Flanders, and of all other Lands and Countries beyond the Sea, and also of the Land of Scotland, should be voided out of the Realm of England, or put to the Coin or Bullion within the same Realm, before the Feast of Christmas then next following, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same; Which Ordinances were made because that the same Moneys [expended<sup>2</sup>] and suffered to run in Payment within this Realm were deceitful; And now so it is, that of late, and at these Days counterfeit and false Money [of such Countries allayed,<sup>3</sup>] as Groats (‘) and Pence made in Ireland, in Part like to the Groats, [Half Groats,<sup>4</sup>] and Pence of this Realm, in such a great Multitude be daily brought into this Realm out of Ireland and other Places, and put [in Payments<sup>5</sup>] in this Realm, which if it should long endure, it should not only

Actions of Debt there [to be pursued<sup>1</sup>]; and in such Bill or Bills to be [pursued<sup>1</sup>] before the Justices of Peace, or before any of the said [Mayor, Sheriff, or<sup>2</sup>] Bailiffs, or other chief Governors aforesaid, [the Process<sup>3</sup>] before Appearance [shall be had<sup>4</sup>] by Attachment by the Body infinite, and after [Judgement<sup>5</sup>] by Fieri facias, Capias ad satisfaciendum, or Elegit, at the Election of the Pursuer in this Behalf; the Pursuer, which so doth recover, to retain his Part aforesaid of the said Forfeiture pertaining to him in his own Hands to his own Use; and the Part pertaining to the King to be delivered to the Sheriff or Sheriffs, Bailiff or Bailiffs, in the King's Exchequer to be accountable, of such County or Place corporate, where such Recovery shall be had, by Writing indented in this Behalf to be made, to be employed to the Use of our Sovereign Lord the King as is aforesaid; and the Residue of the said Forfeitures recovered, to be delivered to any of the said Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or other chief Governors corporate, (<sup>6</sup>) as afore is said (<sup>7</sup>) to be applied in the Manner and Form before specified. And if any such Forfeitures be found and proved in any Town or Village not corporate, the same to be delivered to the said Lord of the Fee, to be applied to his Use. And Whereas by the Statute made in the Second Year of the pretended Reign of the late King Henry the Sixth, it was ordained amongst other, That no Gold nor Silver should be carried out of this Realm, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Value [of the same,<sup>8</sup>] and that he which [espieth the same,<sup>9</sup>] and thereof [giveth Knowledge<sup>10</sup>] to the Council or Treasurer of England, should have the Fourth Part of such Forfeiture; [Ransom and Fine<sup>11</sup>] of the English Prisoners taken beyond the Sea, and the Money which Soldiers [shall<sup>12</sup>] carry with them for their reasonable Costs, with other Things in the same Statute comprised, excepted: Contrary to which Statute and Ordinance, and divers other Ordinances touching the same before this made, the Money of Gold and Silver, and Vessel and Plate of Gold and Silver of this Land, as Merchandises is (<sup>13</sup>) carried and sent out of this Realm, as well by the Denizens as Aliens, to the great impoverishing of the same Realm, and final Destruction of the Treasure of the same Realm, if hasty Remedy be not provided: It is ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That no Person from the Feast of Easter shall carry nor [do<sup>14</sup>] to be carried out of this Realm or Wales (<sup>15</sup>) any manner of Money of the Coin of this Realm, nor (<sup>16</sup>) of the Coin of any other Realms, Lands, or Seignories, nor no Plate, Vessel, Mass, Bullion, nor Jewels of Gold [wrought or unwrought,<sup>17</sup>] or of Silver, without the King's Licence; except such Persons as be dispensed within the foresaid Statute made the Second Year of the said King Henry the Sixth, and in other divers Statutes; upon Pain of Felony, and to be adjudged and reputed as a Felon, the same Felony to be heard and determined in like Manner and Form, and before such Person or Persons, as other Felonies be commonly heard and determined within this Realm. And Whereas in the Statute made in the Ninth Year of King Edward the Third, (<sup>18</sup>) amongst other things, It was ordained, That the Sterling Halfpenny or Farthing

And Whereas in the Parliament holden the Second Year of the usurped Reign of Henry the Sixth, late in Deed and not of Right King of England, amongst other, It was ordained, That no Goldsmith nor Worker of Silver within the City of London, should sell any Thing wrought of Silver, unless it (<sup>4</sup>) be as fine as the Sterling, except that that needeth solder in the making, which [shall <sup>5</sup>] be allowed according as the solder [shall <sup>6</sup>] be necessary to be wrought in the same; and that no Goldsmith nor Jeweller, nor other Man that [worketh <sup>7</sup>] Harness of Silver, put any of the same to Sale in the same City, before [it be <sup>8</sup>] touched with the Touch of the Leopard's Head, that which may reasonably bear the same Touch, and also with a Mark or Sign of the Worker of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Double; and that the Mark or Sign of every Goldsmith [shall <sup>9</sup>] be committed to the Wardens of the same Mystery; and if it may be found that the Keeper of the Touch aforesaid, do touch any such Harness with the Leopard's Head, [which is not <sup>10</sup>] as fine in Alloy as the Sterling, that then the Keeper of the Touch, for every Thing so proved not so good in Alloy as the Sterling, forfeit the Double Value to our Sovereign Lord the King and to the Party; which Statute is daily broken by the Goldsmiths and other Workers of Silver, inhabiting as well in the City of London as elsewhere within this Realm and Wales; and our Sovereign Lord the King in Effect nothing answered of any Forfeiture comprised in the same Statute; albeit that the King's liege People, daily buying Things wrought by the said Goldsmiths or Workers as fine Gold or fine Silver, supposing it [to be the same, <sup>11</sup>] where in Deed it is not so, be grievously deceived, because that the said Touch of the Leopard's Head is oftentimes set to such Things, by the said Keeper of the said Touch of London and other Places, [as though the Thing were fine, and not defective; <sup>12</sup>] and oftentimes the Sign of the Worker of the same is not set thereto according to the Statute aforesaid, nor the Action given in the same Statute [is no perfect Remedy to the Persons grieved in this Behalf <sup>13</sup>]; It is ordained by Authority of this present Parliament, for the better Execution of the said Statute, and for to eschew the Deceit daily done by the said Goldsmiths and Workers of Gold and Silver in the said City of London and elsewhere, within this Realm and Wales, that no Goldsmith nor other Worker of Gold and Silver, or either of the same Metals, from the said Feast of Easter, shall work, sell, or [set ''] to sale any manner base Gold under the Fineness of xvij. Carats otherwise called Crates, nor no Silver unless it be as fine as the Sterling, except such Thing as requireth Solder in making of the same, which shall be allowed according to the Solder necessary to the making of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Double Value of any such Gold or Silver wrought or sold to the contrary. Nor that no Goldsmith, Jeweller, nor other Worker of Harness of Silver, [shall set no Harness of Silver Plate, nor Jewel of Silver to sell, ''] from the said Feast of Easter, within the said City of London, or within Two Miles of London, before it be touched with a Touch of the Leopard's Head crowned, such as may bear the same Touch, and also with a Mark or Sign of the Worker of the same so wrought within [the City of ''] London, or Two Miles of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Double Value of any such Silver wrought and sold to the contrary. And that the Mark or Sign of every Goldsmith be [committed ''] to the Wardens of the same Mystery; and if it may be found that the said [Keeper ''] of the Touch of the Leopard's Head crowned, aforesaid, do mark or touch any such Harness with the Leopard's Head, if it be not as fine in Allay as the Sterling, then the said [Keeper ''] of the said Touch, for every Thing proved not of as good Allay as the ( ' ) Sterling, shall forfeit the ( ' ) Double Value; the same Forfeitures ( ' ) to be divided into Two Parts, the one Half ( ' ) to be applied to the Use of the King's House, and the other Half thereof to the Party grieved [or hurt, in this Behalf, ''] or in his Default, any other Person which will [pursue ''] and prove such Forfeiture, shall be thereto received, and have in this Behalf an Action of Debt, [or ''] at the common Law at his Election, or ( ' ) before the Justices of Peace of the County out of City or Town Corporate where such Forfeiture shall happen, [to pursue ''] as well for the King as for himself; and if it happen in City, Borough, or Town Corporate, then before the Mayor, Sheriff or Sheriffs, Bailiff or Bailiffs, or other chief Governor there, by Bill or Bills in this Behalf; in which Action of Debt, and in the Bill or Bills to be sued, like Disposition, Demean, [Behaviour, ''] Judgement, and Execution in [this Party ''] shall be had, according as in the said Article concerning the Money of Ireland is comprised, any Charter, Grant, Corporation, or Act made to the contrary notwithstanding. And because there be divers Goldsmiths and other Workers of Gold and Silver, Aliens and Strangers inhabiting in the City of London, and other Places nigh there about, working their Works in [secret Places, and privileged, ''] and [eloin the same, ''] and will not be searched by the Wardens of the said Goldsmiths of London for the Time being, nor will not be obedient and governed by them; therefore it is [hereby ''] ordained, That from the said Feast of Easter, every such Alien and Stranger Goldsmith and Worker of Gold and Silver, inhabiting or to inhabit in the said City of London, and other Places within Two Miles of the same City, shall be obedient and ruled by the said Wardens of the said ( ' ) Goldsmiths, in all Things lawful and reasonable, and suffer the Stuff of Gold and Silver by them wrought to be searched and [marked<sup>1</sup>] after the Rule of the said City, upon Pain to be punished in Manner and Form as Goldsmiths and Workers of Gold and Silver of England, inhabiting within the said City, by the Rules of the said Craft of Goldsmiths ought to be ruled: So always that the said Aliens and Strangers be [not<sup>2</sup>] evil entreated, nor otherwise charged by any manner Imposition, other than the said English Goldsmiths be, shall be, and ought to be. And for the better surveying of the said Aliens and Strangers, in Time to come to be had, It is ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That the same Aliens and Strangers, Goldsmiths and Workers of Gold and Silver, inhabiting within the said City, and every of them, from the Feast of Saint Michael the Archangel next coming, shall inhabit them in the open Streets of the said City, and where [better and more open shewing<sup>3</sup>] is of their Craft. And It is ordained by the said Authority, That if the aforesaid (<sup>4</sup>) Keeper of the said Touch (<sup>5</sup>) or Worker of Harness or other Thing of Gold or Silver not made of the said Fineness, do touch or mark the same Harness or other Thing as fine and able, that then for Non-sufficiency of the said Keeper and Worker, [the Persons of<sup>6</sup>] the said Craft of Goldsmiths of the said City of London, by whatsoever Name or Names they be corporate (<sup>7</sup>) shall be chargeable and charged of the said Forfeitures by like Action or Actions of Debt as is aforesaid in like Manner and Form as immediately before is specified. And Whereas in the Fifth Year of the pretended Reign of Henry the Fourth, for the better keeping of Gold and Silver within this Realm, and for the Utterance of the Commodities of the same Realm, It was ordained amongst other, That Merchants Strangers and Aliens should sell their Merchandises brought (<sup>8</sup>) within a Quarter of a Year after their coming into the same, and that the Money received in this Realm should be employed upon the Commodities of this Land upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Money; contrary to which Ordinance, the same Merchants and many other Persons do convey and carry daily [the same Money<sup>9</sup>] by them received, out of the (<sup>10</sup>) Realm, to the great diminishing of the same Money, and do not employ the same in Substance upon the Commodities of this Realm, whereby the King's Custom and Subsidy (<sup>11</sup>) be greatly decayed: It is therefore ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That every Merchant Alien, and every Victualler and other Stranger, not being Denizen, which shall resort into any Place or Port of this Realm or Wales, after the said Feast of Easter, shall duly employ all the Money to be received by him within any Part of the same Realm or Wales, upon Merchandises or other Commodities of this Realm, or without any Fraud he shall put the same in due Payment to the King's liege People within this Realm; the same Employment or Payment duly to be proved by the Merchant Alien, Victualler, or other Stranger, before his departing out of the same Port, by Writing [to<sup>12</sup>] such Merchant or Merchants, to whom the said Merchant Alien, Victualler, or other Stranger hath employed or paid his Money assembled, and by the Authority of the same, hath ordained and established, That from the First Day of May next ensuing, no Steward, Under-Steward, Bailiff, Commissary, nor other Minister of any such Courts of Pypowders, shall hold Plea upon any Action at the Suit of any Person or Persons, unless the Plaintiff or Plaintiffs, or his or their Attorney, in the Presence of the Defendant or Defendants, (¹) do swear upon the holy Evangelists, upon the Declaration, that the Contract (²) or other Deed contained in the said Declaration, was made or [committed³] within the [Fair, and within the Time⁴] of the said Fair, where he taketh his Action, and within the Bounds and Jurisdiction of the same Fair. And although the said Plaintiff or Plaintiffs by their Oath do affirm the same, yet nevertheless the said Defendant or Defendants shall not be concluded [by the same,⁵] but may answer and plead to the Action, or in Abatement of the Plea, and to profer an Issue that the same Contract, Trespass, or other Deed contained in such Declaration, whereupon the Plaintiff or Plaintiffs do declare, was not [committed nor done within the Time of the Fair, and Jurisdiction of the same,⁶] but out of the Time of the Fair, or at other Places out of the Jurisdiction of the same Fair, according to the Truth in this Behalf. And if it be so tried, or that the Plaintiff or Plaintiffs, or their Attornies, do refuse to take the Oaths in the Form aforesaid, that then the Defendant or Defendants shall be quite dismissed and discharged in that Behalf out of the same Court; the Party Plaintiff to take his Remedy at Common Law, or other Place convenient, as shall to him seem good, notwithstanding this Ordinance. And that every Steward, Under-Steward, Bailiff, Commissary, or other Minister, holding, ruling, or governing any of the said Courts, that doth the contrary of this Ordinance, shall forfeit for every Default in that Behalf, an Hundred Shillings, the one Half (⁷) to be to our Lord the King, and the other Half (⁸) to him that will in this Behalf pursue his Action upon this Ordinance, by Action of Debt in his own Name: And that Writs of Proclamation be in all good Haste directed to every Sheriff of every County of England, to cause this Ordinance to be proclaimed in every Fair within his County, as well within Franchise as without: This Act to endure from the said First Day of May until the First Day of the next Parliament. Provided always, That this Act, nor any Thing comprised in the same Act, be hurtful or prejudicial to William now Bishop of Durham, nor to his Successors, within the Liberty and Franchise of the Bishoprick of Durham.

and Temporal, and at the Request of the Commons, in the said Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, hath ordained and established, That all and every Person or Persons which hereafter shall use the Occupation of making of any such Tile as before is said, shall make it good, seasonable, [able and sufficient, and well<sup>1</sup>] whited and anealed; And that the Earth whereof any such Tile shall be made, shall be digged and [cast up<sup>2</sup>] before the First Day of November next before that [they<sup>3</sup>] shall be made, and that the same Earth be stirred and turned before the First Day of February then next following the same digging and [casting up,<sup>4</sup>] and not wrought before the First Day of March<sup>5</sup> next following; And that the same Earth before it be put to making of Tile, be truly wrought and tried from Stones; and also that the Veins called<sup>6</sup> Malm or Marle, and Chalk, lying commonly in the Ground near to the [Land<sup>7</sup>] convenient to make Tile of, (<sup>8</sup>) after the digging of the said Earth whereof any such Tile shall be made, shall be well, lawfully and truly severed and cast from the said Earth whereof any such Tile shall be made. And that every such plain Tile so to be made, shall contain in Length Ten Inches and Half, and in Breadth Six Inches and a Quarter of an Inch, and in Thickness Half an Inch and Half a Quarter<sup>9</sup> at the least. And that every such Roof-tile or Crest-tile so to be made, shall contain in Length Thirteen Inches, and in Thickness Half an Inch and [Half a Quarter<sup>10</sup>] at the least, with convenient Deepness according. And that every Gutter-tile and [Cover tile<sup>11</sup>] to be made, shall contain in Length Ten Inches and an Half, with convenient Thickness, Breadth, and Deepness according. And if any Person or Persons [set<sup>12</sup>] to Sale to any Person or Persons any such Tile above specified, made or to be made contrary to the said Ordinance, then the Seller thereof shall forfeit to the Buyer of the same the Double Value of the same Tile, and besides that, shall make Fine and Ransom to the King at his Will: And that every Person that feelet himself grieved, and will sue in that Behalf, shall have an Action of Debt against the Offenders, [wherein shall be made and had<sup>13</sup>] like Process, Recovery, and Execution, (<sup>14</sup>) as is or may be at this Day in any other Actions of Debt sued at the Common Law. And that the Plaintiff in every such Action, if it be found with him, may recover against the Defendant in the same Action his reasonable Costs and Expences of his Suit; And that the Defendant in any such Action shall not be admitted to wage his Law, or to have any Essoin nor Protection allowed, nor any Advantage by [fourching of<sup>15</sup>] Essoin or Distress. And also that the Justices of Peace for the Time being, within every County of this Realm, and every of them, shall have full Power to inquire, hear, and determine by their Discretions, as well by Examination or otherwise, the Defaults, Offences, and Trespasses which shall happen to be committed contrary to this Ordinance, as well at the King's Suit, as at the Party's which (<sup>16</sup>) shall feel himself grieved in that Behalf: And if it be found, or may appear to the said Justices of Peace, or any of them, by Examination or otherwise by their Discretion, that any Person or Persons hath offended contrary to this Ordinance, that then the same Justices before whom it shall (<sup>17</sup>) be found or appear, shall assess upon the Offender in this Behalf no less Fine than for every Thousand of plain Tile [set<sup>18</sup>] to Sale

HERE BEGIN THE STATUTES MADE AT WESTMINSTER, IN THE TWENTY-SECOND YEAR.

*Ex Lib. Scacc. Westm. XI.**

OUR Lord the King, Edward the Fourth, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Twentieth Day of January, in the Two-and-Twentieth Year of his Reign, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of his People of this his Realm, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of his Commons, in the said Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same Parliament, hath ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances in the [Manner and] Form following:

Former Statutes
respecting
Apparel

What Kind of Apparel Temporal Men of every Degree and to forfeit for every Default Forty Shillings. And that no Man under the Estate of a Lord, wear any manner of Woolen Cloth made out of this Realm of England, Ireland, Wales, and Calais, nor wear any Furrs of Sables, upon Pain to forfeit for every Default Ten Pounds. And also It is ordained and established by the said Authority, That no Servant of Husbandry nor common Labourer, nor Servant to any Artificer (') out of City or Borough, shall wear in their Cloathing any Cloth, whereof the Broad Yard shall [pass the Price of<sup>1</sup>] Two Shillings; nor that any of the said Servants or Labourers shall suffer their Wives to wear any Clothing of higher Price than is before limited to their Husbands; nor they shall not suffer [their<sup>2</sup>] Wives [to wear any Reile called a Kerchief, whose Price exceedeth<sup>3</sup>] Twenty-pence, nor none of the said Servants or Labourers shall wear any Hosen, whereof the Pair shall [pass<sup>4</sup>] Eighteen-pence, upon Pain to forfeit for every Default [Three Shillings four-pence<sup>5</sup>]. Moreover, it is ordained, (') That the Justices of Peace in every County, Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, Masters, and other chief Officers of Cities, Boroughs, Towns of the Five Ports, and other [Corporate Towns<sup>6</sup>] with this Realm, shall have Power and Authority to inquire, hear, and determine all the said Defaults and Forfeitures, and every of them, to be [made<sup>7</sup>] or had within their several Jurisdiccions, as well by Enquiry as by due Examination, and the Matters and Causes concerning the said Offences and Forfeitures to determine by like Process and Judgement, and in like Manner and Form before Attainder in this Behalf, as is [before<sup>8</sup>] the Justices of Peace commonly used of Trespass done with Force and Arms against the King's Peace, and after Attainder like Execution. And if any Matter touching any of the said Offences be removed [of<sup>9</sup>] any of the said Justices of Peace, Mayors, or any other Officers before named, to be had before the King in his Bench, that then the Justices to the Pleas before [them<sup>10</sup>] to be holden, assigned, shall have Power to award such Process and like Execution in this Behalf, as before is limited. And It is ordained by the said Authority, That all the said Pains and Forfeitures, except such Pains and Forfeitures in and for the Premises, which shall happen to be and grow within the County Palatine of Chester, Exhamshire, and the Bishoprick of Durham, shall be to the King, to be employed to the Expences of his honourable House; And that such Pains and Forfeitures in and for the Premises within the said County Palatine of Chester, shall be to my Lord the Prince; and such Pains and Forfeitures in and for the Premises within Exhamshire, shall be to the Archbishop of York and to his Successors; and such Pains and Forfeitures in and for the Premises within the said Bishoprick of Durham, shall be to the Bishop of Durham and his Successors. Provided always, That this Act extend not, nor be (') prejudicial to or for any Woman, excepted the Wives [and Servants of<sup>11</sup>] Labourers. Also It is ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That all other Ordinances and Statutes before this Time made of Array or Apparel, shall be by the Authority of this present Parliament (') void and of no Force nor Effect;

Justices of Peace shall have Power to hear and determine Offences.

The King shall have all Forfeitures, except in the County Palatine of Chester, in Exhamshire, and in the Bishoprick of Durham.

¹ An erroneous Repetition of the preceding Words from de dette, is here inserted in Lib. Scacc.

Our said Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Pre-misses, by the Advice Assent and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained established and enacted, That from the Feast of Easter next coming, no Bowyer nor other Person using to sell or put to Sale, or which hereafter shall use to sell or put to Sale, any Long Bow or Bows of Yew, shall sell any of the same Bows to any of the King's liege People above the Price of Three Shillings four-pence a Bow; and long Bows of Yew under the Value of the same Price, as the Seller and Buyer thereof may reasonably agree and accord; upon Pain to forfeit for every Long Bow of Yew otherwise sold above the said Price of Three Shillings and four-pence, Twenty Shillings; the one Half thereof to our Sovereign Lord the King, and the other Half to any of his liege People that will therefore sue, and prove the said Forfeiture by Action or Actions of Debt, wherein like Process, Judgement, and Execution shall be had as is commonly used in Actions of Debt sued at the Common Law; and that no Defendant in any such Action or Actions shall be admitted to wage his Law.

ITEM, It was shewed in the said Parliament, (¹) how that [Hats,¹] Bonnets, and Caps, as well single as double, were wont to be [faithfully¹] made, wrought, fulled, and thicked [by Men's Strength,¹] that is to say, with Hands and Feet, and thereby the Makers of the same have honestly before this Time gained their Living, and kept many Apprentices, Servants, and good [Houses,¹] till now of late that by subtile Imagination, to the Destruction of the Labours and Sustenance of many Men, such [Hats,¹] Bonnets, and Caps have been fulled and thicked in fulling Mills, and in the said Mills the said [Hats,¹] (¹) and Caps be broken and deceitfully wrought, and in no wise by the mean of any Mill may be [faithfully¹] made, to the great Damage of our Sovereign Lord the King and of all his Subjects, and the final undoing of such which be the Makers of such [Hats,¹] Bonnets, and Caps, unless the Grace of our Sovereign Lord the King should be to them shewed in this Behalf, and thereupon to provide Remedy: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Supplication of his said Commons in the said Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, hath ordained and provided, That no manner Person (¹) after the Feast of Easter next coming, shall full or thicken, or [do¹] to be fulled or thicked any [Hats,¹] Bonnets, or Caps, double or single, in any fulling Mill, or by the mean of any fulling Mill, upon Pain to forfeit and to lose xl s. as often as he shall do contrary to this Act. And also that no Person [Hat Maker,¹] Capper, or other whatsoever he be, after the said Feast of Easter, shall [set¹] or cause to be [set¹] any [Hats,¹] Bonnets, or Caps, Double or Single, to be fulled or thicked, [to¹] any such Mill or by the mean of any such Mill, or [set¹] to Sale any such [Hats,¹] Bonnets, or Caps, Double or Single, which after the said Feast shall be so made, fulled, or thicked, upon Pain to forfeit and lose the [Hats,¹] Bonnets, and Caps so [set¹] as afore is said to any such Mill to be fulled or thicked, or [otherwise set to be sold¹] contrary to this Act; and also to forfeit and lose xl s. as often

* The Statute of this Year, in French, was printed, by Maclinia or Caxton, soon after the End of the Session of Parliament; and is also included in the Collection of Statutes by Pynson (1497.) The Text now given from Lib. XI in the Exchequer at Westminster agrees in general with those Printed Copies. Some of the Acts, as inrolled on the Parliament Roll of this Year, were printed in the Edition by Pulton (1618) and some others in subsequent Printed Collections. These differ, in their Preambles and other Particulars, from the correspondent Chapters of the English Text of the Statute as given in the Old Printed Editions, translated from the French Text. MS. Pet.; MS. Hatt. 10.; MS. Cott. Nero C. I., and other Manuscript Collections of Statutes contain the Statute of this Year in French, agreeing very nearly with the French Text in the Oldest Printed Copies. The Introductory Clause of the Statute in English is given from the Old Printed Translations.

* The Statutes of this First Year, and of the Third Year, of this King's Reign, have hitherto, as far as has been discovered, been printed in English, in all Collections of the Statutes at large: The French Text now printed, of the Statutes of both these Years, is taken from the Privy Manuscript No. 8. in the Inner Temple Library, compared with and corrected, by the various Readings in the Notes, from the Hattum Manuscript 10. [Catal. MS. Angl. 4135.] in the Bodleian Library.

In Lib. Scacc. Westm. XI. and many other Manuscripts, the Statutes of these Years are entered in English, agreeing with the Old Printed English Copies, and in Form with the French Text as now printed, beginning as in the succeeding Page, 500. The English Text, of all the A<sup>cts</sup> contained in the Statute, is now printed from the Inrollment on the Roll of Parliament of this Year: Such Variations as occur in Lib. Scacc. wherewith the Old Printed Copies in general agree, are inserted in the Notes. The French Text does not contain what are inserted in Lib. Scacc. and the Printed Copies, as the concluding Chapters of this and the Third Year; Those Chapters, having heretofore been printed as they appear in Lib. Scacc. are now printed from that Source, as part of the Statute, and also from the Inrollment of the correspondent A<sup>cts</sup> on the Parliament Rolls, in conformity with the Method pursued in the preceding Chapters of each Session.

* The Parliament which began on 13th January 4 Hen. VII. A.D. 1488-9, was on the 23d of February following prorogued to 14th October 5 Hen. VII. A.D. 1489; in which Session were passed the Acts numbered Chap. I. to VII. of the Statute. On the said 14th October the Parliament met and sate until 14th December following, and was then prorogued to 25th January ensuing, 5 Hen. VII. A.D. 1489-90; in which Session were passed the Two Acts numbered Chap. VIII, IX. of the Statute. And on the said 25th January the Parliament met and sate until 27th February then following, 5 Hen. VII. A.D. 1489-90, and was then dissolved; in which Session were passed the Acts numbered Chap. X. to XXIV. of the Statute: The whole of the Statute is always cited as of 4 Hen. VII.

This Statute has always been printed in English; and Entries, agreeing with the Printed Copies, are found in Lib. Scacc. and many other MSS. particularly in the Hutton MS. 10 in the Bodleian Library, in which the Statutes of the First and Third Years of this King's Reign are entered in French: See the Note to the Statute: Hen. VII. ante p. 499. The Pety MS. referred to in that Note ends with the Statute of the Third Year. This Fourth Year affords the latest Instance of the Statute Roll being made up in the ancient Form. The several Acts on which the Statute was framed are now printed, from the Inrollment thereof on the Parliament Roll of this Year, in conformity with the Plan adopted in the Statutes of the First and Third Years of this Reign.

¶ Pore Eccle Xpi Cantuar.

To the Kyng our Sovereign Lord.

IN the moste humble wise besechith your Highnes William Priour of Cristchurche of Caunterbury of your noble fundacion that where late Kyng Edward the fourth by his tres patentis beryng date at Westm the v. day of Decembre the first yere of his reigne graunted the Lordshipp and Maner of Paunfeld wth thappurtenances, the whiche was a Priour Aliene by the name of the Maner of Paunfeld othrewise callid the Priory of Paunfeld with all londes tefites medowes pastures wodes rentes and vices to the same maner pteynnyng in the Countie of Essex and the Citie of London to Griseld, the whiche was wyfe of John Hynde thelder Squier to have and hold to hir and to hir heires and assignees of the same late Kyng and his heires for evmore by the vice of a redde rose yerely at the fest of the nativite of Seynt John the Baptist to the same late Kyng and his heires for all man<sup>er</sup> vices to be yolden as in the same tres patentis more pleyndly apperith; by v<sup>ue</sup> of the wiche tres patentis the same Griseld was therof seised in hir demesne as of fee; the whiche Griseld so beyng therof seised bargeyned and sold the same maner othrewise callid the Priory of Paunfeld to the moste Reverend fadre in God Thomas late Cardynall and Archebisshopp of Caunterbury for a grete s<sup>ome</sup> of Money by him to hir paid; And therupon the same Griseld at the n<sup>oti</sup>acion and desire of the same late Cardynall therof enfeofed Laurence late Bisshopp of Duram, Thomas nowe Archebisshopp of Yorke John Wyngfeld Knyght, Thomas Wynterbourne Clerk, John Clerke late oon of the Barons of the Eschequer of the seid late King Edward the iiijth John Brunston Squyer Alexander Wode and William Duraunt to have to theym and to their heires in fee to thuse of the same late Cardynall and of his heires, the whiche late Cardynall considering that the seid Maner and Lordshipp of olde tyme was a Priour Aliene and lyvelode of h<sup>is</sup> church, willed and ordeyned the seid Maner with thappurtenances to be yoven by the seid late Bisshopp of Duram and his seid cofeoffees to the seid Priour of Cristchurche & to his successours in fee for evmore to kepe a dayly masse and yerely an obite and to doo c<sup>ete</sup>yn almes and othre observances and prayers in the seid Priory for him and his soule and all cristen soules for evmore, as in the same ordinaunce of the seid late Cardynall more pleyndly apperith; And so the seid late Bisshopp of Duram and his seid cofeoffees of the seid Maner with thappurtenances by the licence of the seid late Kyng Edward, infeoffed the seid Priour to have to him and to his successours according to the same ordinaunce, by v<sup>ue</sup> wherof the same Priour was therof seised in his demesne as of fee in the right of the seid Church; But forasmuch as there was an acte of resumpcion in the Parlement of the seid Edward late Kyng holden at Westm the vj day of Octobr the xijth yere of his reigne, hit to take effecte from the fest of Seynt Thomas thappostill in the yere of our Lord God M<sup>c</sup>. CCCC lxxij the whiche was the xijth yere of the reigne of the seid late King Edward, to the whiche there was made a gen<sup>erall</sup> proviso for all Religious Houses, and the seid feoffement made to your seid Suppliant was meane betwene the seid vj day of Octobr and the seid fest of Seynt Thomas thappostill whiche the seid late Cardynall and your seid Supphaunt trusted shuld have ben gode and sufficient where it is not, bicause the seid Proviso hath relacion to the seid vj day of Octobr the whiche was before the same feoffement and therfor by that acte of resumpcion is there pcesse made in your Eschequer ayenst him to aunswere the p<sup>ri</sup>tes of the seid maner to your Highnes, and so therby shuld the seid devoute ordinaunce of the seid Cardynall be utterly voide and adnulled, onlesse yt please youre Highnes to have specyall tendirnesse and consideration therunto. That it may please your Highnes by thadvyse and assent of the Lordes sp<sup>iritu</sup>elx and temporelx and Comyns in this Parlement assembled and by auctorite of the same, to enacte ordeigne and stablish that the seid tres patentis of the forseid late King Edward be fro the tyme of the making of theym as gode and effectuell in the Lawe and of like force and effecte as if none acte of resumpcion gen<sup>erall</sup> ne speciall ne o<sup>ther</sup> acte of parlement had ben made ne had in the tyme of the reigne of the seid Edward late Kyng ne any tyme astir to the hurte or adnullacion of h<sup>is</sup> same tres patentis. And that the seid Priour your Suppliant may have and enjoye to him and his successours the seid Maner and lordshipp othrewise callid the Priory of Paunfeld; And the seid Priour and his successours to be quite and discharged ayenst you Sovereign Lord and your heires and successours of and for all issues and p<sup>ri</sup>tes afore this tyme received or herastir to be received of the seid maner othrewise callid the Priory of Paunfeld, without accompte or any othre thing to your Highnes or your heires or successors therfor yelding. Savyng to evy p<sup>er</sup>son othre than you Sovereign Lord suche right title and interesse in the seid Maner and Lordshipp with thappurtenances as he myght or shuld have had if this acte nev<sup>er</sup> had be made.

Grant by Letters Patent 5 Dec. 1 Edw. IV. of the Maner of Paunfeld to Griseld Wyfe of John Hynde, Esq;

Sale thereof by Griseld to the late Cardinal and Archbishop of Canterbury;

Gift thereof by the said Cardinal to the Priory of Christ Church;

Convictio John Hayes.

Recital of a treasonable Letter received and concealed by John Hayes.

Most drad Sovereign Lord.

FOR ASMOCH as oon John Hayes late of Tiberton in the Countie of Devonshire Gentilman the xxvj day of the moneth of Novemb<sup>r</sup> last passed at Winchest<sup>r</sup> in the Countie of the South<sup>r</sup> receyved of oon William Warde of Topisham a writing sent from oon John Taillour your rebell and traitour being in Normandy in the service of your auncien enemye of Fraunce, the tenoure of whiche writing herastir foloweth; Right revend and worshipfull Sir y hertely recōmaunde me unto you, prayeng you to take to your remembraunce the wordes we spake to guyders in Seynt Petir Chirch of Exces<sup>r</sup> and at the blak Freres when ye were at your brekefast and y made myn erand unto you for seyng of evydence Sir, ye shall undirstand that the Kyngis Grace of Fraunce by thadvyce and assent of his counsell woll aide and supporte your Maisters son to his right and all his lovers and servant<sup>e</sup> and take theym as his frendys bothe by lond and by watir. And all they may well be assured savely to come into Fraunce both bodyes and goodes and suche as have no goodes they may cōme heder and be releved if they be knowen fortune men to þ<sup>e</sup> quarell, and o<sup>v</sup> that he woll geve help of his own subgiectis with shippes geld and sil<sup>v</sup> to cōme into England and with such nombre as shall be thought by you and othre youre masters sonnes frendis necessarie and behofull for his helpe and socour, and they to be redy and land at such tyme and place as ye with othre shall appoynt, and þ<sup>o</sup>fore I pray you shewe this matier unto suche as ye knowe well woll geve their gode counsell and assistance to the same, And if ye may bring the answer of the mynde heryn your self or ellis send it by Thomas Gale of Dertemouth and ye may speke with him by the same token that he and y comyned toguyder of matiers touching your maisters sonne in Stokingham Park when Sir John Halwell hunted thereyn, and be you not aferde to shewe all your mynde unto hym for he is trusty in this matier. Sir ye muste cōme yourself or send him or ellis send Maister John Atte Will whom ye well trust and y also if ya aunswere for him or ellis ye may send John Aleyn of Pole whom ye trust and y also, or John Affright servant to my Lady Warwyk or any othre trusty body of your knowlege; I pray you make laboure unto my Lady Warwyk to write to the King of Fraunce and to suche of his Counsell as she is best accounted with, and that doon she and ye and all othre of our partie shall have all thingis necessarie as is afore rehersed; And if therto any man of gretter name that thinketh he may owe more goode here then at home, he may suerly cōme heder and welcome, And yit it nedith not to send heder any grete nombre for here shalbe ynough redy furnished of all thinges and the King and his Counsell sey they woll aske nothing in recompence, but to do it for the wrong he dyd in making Hen<sup>r</sup> Kyng of Englonde and for the goode will he oweth to the sonne of youre maister for they be net of kyn. Sir ye remembre that the token between you and me is that such as y shall send unto you shall take you by the thombe as I dyde when ye and I wente up oute of the Cloister into Seynt Petirs Chirche and by that token ye shuld be assured of all thinges and fere nothing and so ensure ye all youre frendis and myne, Sir ye shall here by othre frendis Sir the convenable tyme of helpe is cōme and therfor nowe endevoir youre self and put to your hand and spare no cost for there shalbe helpe in thre parties oute of royalme but here is the place most metely for you and where ye shall lak nothing. The berer herof shall shewe you more to whome y pray you gyf credence. Writen at Roan in Normandye the xv. day of Septemb<sup>r</sup> by your olde accoyntaunce John Taillour the elder. After the resceyte of whiche writing and credence theruppon made and opened, the seid John unfeithfully and untruly suffred the bringer of the seid writing to goo at his plesure without any arrest or trouble to him therfor made and also caste the seid writing in the fire and conseled all the matier and shewed it not to your Highnes nor to any of your Counsell unto the tyme that the seid John aftir he was taken þ<sup>o</sup>for and arrested; All whiche matiers afore rehersed is by the seid John Hayes in substaunce confessed and knowleged: Be it therfor ordeyned by the advyse of the Lordes spūall and temporall and Comens in this p<sup>re</sup>sent parlement assembled and by auctorite of the same that the seid John Hayes be convicted and atteynted of mesprisyon by hym commytted and doon ayenst the Kyng<sup>e</sup> moost royall p<sup>er</sup>one of and for his unlauffull demeanyng and concelement in the p<sup>re</sup>misses afore rehersed, And that he by the same auctorite forfeite therfore all his goodes, And o<sup>v</sup> that his body to abyde in prisone therfor unto the tyme he have made fyne and ransom for the same.
